No Compromise Near In Soft Coal Strike

UNION MUST LAUNCH ARBITRATION MINE OPERATORS STATE

Ohio Conference May
Assume Lead In
Peace Efforts

CHICAGO, April 2.—No compromise was in sight today as the suspension of soft coal mining in the unionized central competitive field entered its second day.

Operators openly declared the first move for a new conference must come from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

"We are willing at all times to talk the situation over with union officials," said Rice Miller, president of the Coal Operators Association of Illinois, "but we cannot afford to pay the Jacksonville wage scale and survive in competition with non-union fields."

It was the termination of the Jacksonville scale, providing a basic day wage of $7.50 that caused the suspension of mining throughout the field which embraces western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The 150,000 union miners out of work in this field have been joined by an estimated 50,000 in Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas.

The miners are as emphatic in declaring they will not work for less than they have been receiving for the past three years as are the operators in saying they cannot afford to pay them $7.50 a day any longer.

Both sides declare they anticipate no disorders. In Illinois, where 72,000 men are employed, operators frankly declared they would get nowhere if they tried to run their mines on an open shop basis and had no intention of trying it.

Under the miner's qualification act a state board has power to prevent mines from operating if they have no certificate. This body is understood to be dominated by union men.

As this is normally the beginning of the slack season neither operators nor men were unduly concerned over the situation and it was generally believed that after a suitable interval a new conference would be called.

CLEVELAND, April 2.—With the scheduled conference between Ohio United Mine Workers representatives and Ohio operators at Columbus April 7, this state may assume the lead in attempts to resume coal mining in the unionized central competitive field.

Although Ohio miners have steadfastly maintained they will not work for less than the old Jacksonville wage scale which expired April 1, and operators are insisting on a new competitive rate, it is possible a "middle ground" may be reached and a compromise effected.

A committee of Ohio coal operators association is now preparing a new wage scale to be presented at the coming conference. Some mine owners believe many men will return to work Monday next, but union leaders declare the miners will stand firm.

THREE MINERS DIE FROM MONOXIDE GAS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 2.—Miners were gathered at the Connelville by product mine today for a third attempt to enter the shaft, following the death of three men from monoxide gas fumes late Friday. The dead are C. R. Rushton, Frank Burns and William Heagerty, all of Pennsylvania.

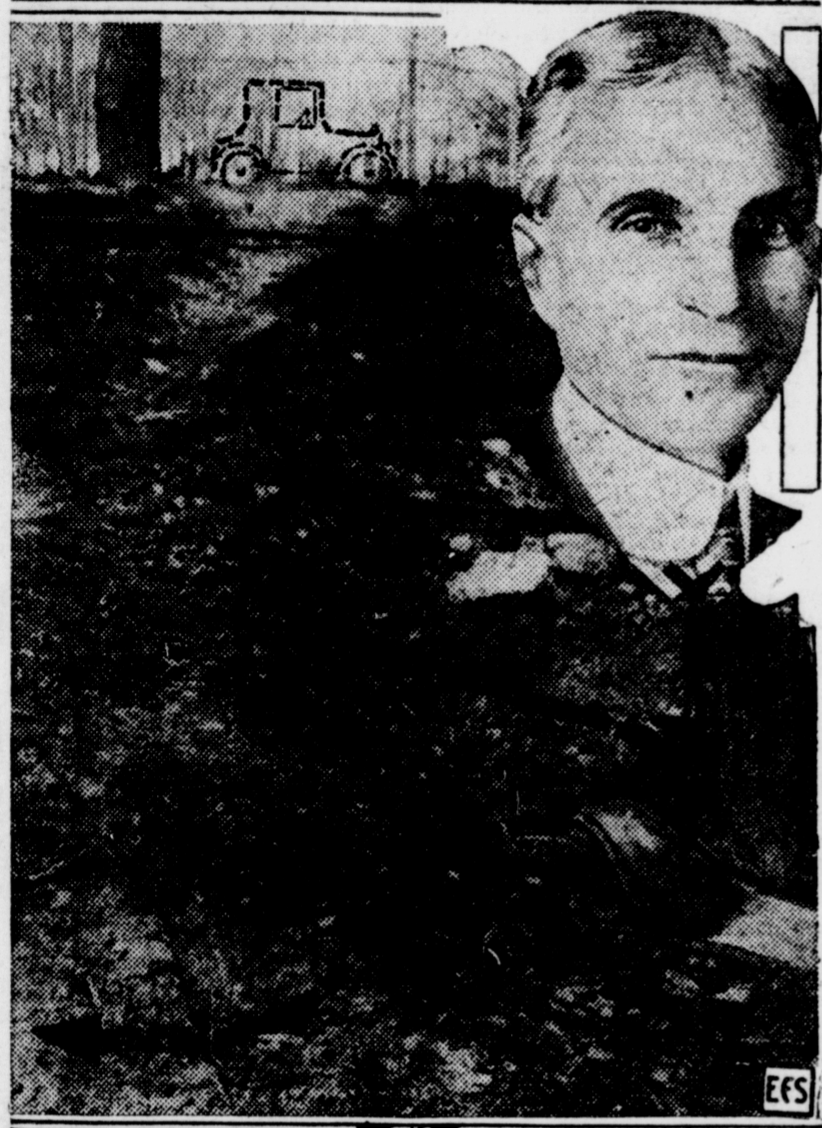

According to R. M. Lambie, leader of the crew, Rushton removed the mouthpiece of his gas helmet when 225 feet below the shaft entrance. When he collapsed, Burns and Heagerty attempted to aid him, and were stricken when they neglected to keep their oxygen helmets closed.

BOOZE CHANGED TO WATER IN COURT

CINCINNATI, O., Apr. 2.—John A. Jack, of Wyoming, O., near here, today was attempting to find the magic wand, or whatever it was, that changed about $4,000 worth of pre-prohibition whisky and champagne into colored water after it had been seized by liquor raiders from the North Bend village dry court. Recently the common pleas court here held that Jack could legally keep the choice liquor. Yesterday, after getting his prize collection safely home, he sampled it, only to find that the bottles had been filled with water.

FORD PROMISES TO SUBMIT TO CONSTANT GUARDS IN FUTURE

Suddenly Realizes That He Is Liable
Suddenly Realizes That He Is Liable
To Attack

DETROIT, Apr. 2.—Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of America's first billionaire, today had accomplished what her husband's associates have tried to do for several years. She has obtained a promise from the automobile magnate that he will submit to a constant secret service guard in the future, it was learned.

The promise means that Mr. Ford no longer will stroll carelessly through the gates of his Dearborn estate to walk bareheaded and ungarded through Dearborn on rainy nights. That practice has been one of the manufacturer's greatest delights.

Those days are over, so he told his wife after his first day at home from the Henry Ford Hospital.

The automobile king spent a restful night and has passed the danger mark, Dr. R. D. McClure said today.

The Ford estate last night and early today resembled the headquarters of a Napoleon. Secret agents lurked in and about the districts, watching carefully automobiles and pedestrians who approached the Michigan Ave. entrance. No one was permitted to enter without strictest search and examination. Several times in the early evening large cars rolled into the entrance only to be refused admission.

Other cars entered but did not leave. In these cars were intimate friends of the Fords, two nurses and the relief guards. No one but those intimately connected with Mr. Ford or his family was allowed to see him.

Although he is reported entirely out of danger, it is admitted that the manufacturer is in a highly nervous state from the sudden realization that he is a billionaire and world's wealthiest and most prominent citizen. His friends declare that it is the first time in

BALLOON RACES TO START AT DETROIT

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The 1927 Gordon Bennett international balloon races will begin from Detroit, Mich., July 4, probably from the Ford airport.

The Bennett cup races were last year held in the United States in 1926 at Birmingham, Alabama. Entries for this year's event close May 1.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

TOLEDO, O., April 2.—Fire early today destroyed the electric plant of the A. W. Reiser Company, lighting fixture manufacturers, here. Loss approximately $38,000.

DOCTORS SAY MOTOR MAGNATE MAY LEAVE HOME IN TWO WEEKS

Medical Bulletins Stopped—Guards Surround Estate

DETROIT, April 2.—Tightly strapped in splints, Henry Ford lay helpless today in an old-fashioned bed at his Dearborn palace, taking the complete rest necessary for his recovery from injuries received in a motor crash last Sunday night. A cordon of armed guards surrounded the estate.

America's first billionaire was convalescing and his physicians finally reported him out of danger. Great care, however, is being exercised to prevent the development of complications.

Officials of the Ford Motor Company meanwhile put the quietus on reports that the accident to the motor king was the result of an attempt to assassinate him. They acted at Ford's own direction, the motor king deciding that urgent steps must be taken to end the unexpected publicity that surrounded the crash.

The million dollar libel suit, which Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king, brought against Ford, today stood in adjournment until Monday. The motor king will appear as a witness in the trial but not until he has completely recovered. In the meantime, other witnesses will be called and on Monday, Sapiro will resume the stand to undergo further cross-examination by Senator James A. Reed, chief of Ford's counsel.

Ford probably will be able to leave his Dearborn home within two weeks unless unexpected complications develop. He needs only rest and the aid of nature to recover, according to his physicians.

An announcement issued on behalf of the doctors by one of the Ford officials, follows:

"Mr. Ford's recovery is so assured that we will issue no more medical bulletins. Mr. Ford is convalescing in a perfectly normal manner, although he still suffers some pain from a sprained back and must lie perfectly still in splints and tape. All Mr. Ford must do to get well is to lie flat on his back and let nature take its course."

Ford, however, was reported to be very impatient and eager to get out into the open air and back to his desk. With the motor king one of the most restless men in the world, the big problem facing his family physicians was to keep him quiet. Mrs. Ford spent most of yesterday at his bedside. It was learned, reading to him and the auto king evidenced much interest in the newspaper accounts of his accident.

CLUBBER VICTIM IS NOW IMPROVING

CLEVELAND, O., Apr. 2.—Miss Katherine Madden, victim of a "gas pipe" clubber here Wednesday night, has a chance to recover, attendants at Mt. Sinai Hospital said today.

Police are checking several clues in an effort to capture the "clubber," and an officer is constantly on duty at Miss Madden's bedside ready to get her story of the attack and possible naming of the assailant.

The girl has been unconscious for fifty-six hours.

DRIVE ON DOGS

TOLEDO, O., Apr. 2.—As the result of one death from rabies and the serious illness of Patrolman Frank Wilson, City Welfare Director Jermain today started a vigorous campaign to eliminate stray dogs in Lucas County. Authorities believe the city is threatened with an epidemic. All dogs found running the streets have been ordered killed.

HOLMES COUNTY LEFT OUT; TO SECEDE BY HECK!

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The telegram bore the date "April 1," but it was no joke, and the Democrats of Holmes County, Ohio, are in deadly earnest about it. Snubbed by the state legislature, which in its haste to pass a gerrymander bill, left Holmes County entirely out of any political subdivision of the state of Ohio, Holmes County Democrats retaliated last night by demanding complete independence and designation as the forty-ninth free state of the union. The telegram, signed by Carl Schuler, mayor of Millersburg,

CONDITION OF KING FERDINAND OF RUMANIA REPORTED MORE SERIOUS; NOW HAS PLEURISY

BUCHAREST, Apr. 1.—Official bulletins issued today stated that improvement is shown in the condition of King Ferdinand, but the population seemed unwilling to accept these bulletins as authentic and the opinion is expressed everywhere that the King's death is imminent.

There have been troop concentrations in Bucharest and new troops are being brought in from the provinces. Reports that Prince Carol had arrived at the King's bedside were denied.

VIENNA, Apr. 2.—King Ferdinand of Rumania has developed pleurisy, which is progressing rapidly, and his death may be expected within the next forty-eight hours, according to information received here today from court circles in Bucharest.

Court Chamberlain Angelescu announced early today that the King had passed the night well and was slightly better today but admitted that the grip has now advanced to inflammation of the lungs.

The King has passed the first crisis of his illness but it is not believed that he has sufficient strength to pass the next.

Anxious crowds are gathering at the gates of the Royal Palace, seeking news of the sovereign. Bucharest is reported orderly.

BERLIN, Apr. 2.—The last sacrament has been administered to King Ferdinand, of Rumania, by Monsignor Dolci, the papal nuncio, according to a telegram from Bucharest today.

The King passed a bad night, and pneumonia has developed. An official communique was issued by the Rumanian legation at noon stating that King Ferdinand was slightly improved, his pulse 100 and his respiration, 32.

Clocks Advance One Hour Sunday

Greene Countians will awake on Eastern Standard time Sunday morning.

To coincide with the Inter-State Commerce Commission ruling, Xenia and Greene County, along with virtually every city and village in the state that does not operate on Eastern time the year round, will turn its clocks ahead one hour, Sunday.

Ohio, as a state, does not officially go on Eastern time until June 6.

The difference in clocks has been the cause of more or less confusion in past years, particularly as far as travelers are concerned, and the effect of making Eastern time universal for Ohio is expected to co-ordinate transportation and all other lines of activity which are regulated by time.

In conformity with the Inter-State Commerce Commission decision, City Commission enacted an ordinance repealing the Daylight Saving time ordinance, and making Eastern time permanently effective in Xenia April 3 at 2 a. m.

Greene Countians should remember to turn their time-pieces ahead before retiring Saturday night.

ATTORNEY GEORGE SMITH MADE COMMISSIONER OF INSOLVENTS

Probate Judge Wright Makes Appointment On
Request—Move May Be Forerunner Of Release Of Liquor Prisoners

Appointment as commissioner of insolvents for Greene County for a three-year term has been tendered to Attorney George H. Smith, this city, by Probate Judge S. C. Wright.

Attorney Smith has accepted, but the formal appointment will not be made until early next week, according to Judge Wright.

The appointee will be required to furnish $1,000 bond. The appointment will become effective on the date the attorney qualifies for the position by supplying bond.

The commissioner will have no regular remuneration but will be paid on a basis of small fees for individual cases. It is not certain whether he will have jurisdiction over felony as well as misdemeanor cases.

The appointment opens the way for at least five persons now serving sentences in the County Jail in default of payment of fines and costs for violation of the prohibition laws, to probably gain immediate release under the indigent debtor law, as a result of the recent decision of the State Supreme Court.

The decision, in effect, holds that to imprison a man for non-payment of a fine is in fact imprisonment for debt in violation of the constitutional provisions, if the prisoner is insolvent and unable to pay the fine.

Under the insolvent debtor's law prisoners cannot be held longer than sixty days in jail.

Attorney Frank L. Johnson made application to Probate Court for appointment of a commissioner of insolvents, and expects to file applications for release of five prisoners in the County Jail, who are said to be insolvent and have served more than sixty days for failure to pay fines.

The prisoners will be required to appear before the insolvency commissioner and affirm their financial state by listing their liabilities and assets. After obtaining a certificate of insolvency, they will appear in Probate Court and ask release on it. It will devolve upon Judge Wright to rule on each individual case, either refusing freedom or authorizing their immediate release from jail.

CITIES FIGHTING GAS RATE INCREASE SUBMIT COMPROMISE PROPOSALS

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—With two alternate proposals in the hands of counsel and officials of the Logan Gas Company for settlement of the gas rate controversy with municipalities served by listing sixteen districts.

Later, adoption of an amendment by Senator Edwards, removing Holmes from the seventeenth district, and placing it nowhere, was adopted by the senate.

The Price gerrymander bill today is in the hands of the house federal relations committee to which it was referred late Thursday upon receipt of the bill from the senate. This committee, house leaders indicated, will correct the senate's mistake and will amend the bill, assigning Holmes County to a congressional district.

SUPREME COURT HAS BLOCKED EFFORT TO SEE PAT M'DERMOTT

Mills Again Denied Right
Pending Writ Of Error

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The conference of E. L. Mills, Canton attorney, with his client, Patrick McDermott, convicted slayer of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, was again postponed today, as a result of the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court late yesterday afternoon.

Mills is seeking a court order directing Warden P. E. Thomas, of the Ohio State Penitentiary, where McDermott is serving a life sentence, to permit the lawyers to confer with McDermott, who has an appeal pending, in private at the prison. Warden Thomas has refused on the ground that after a prisoner is convicted and sent to his institution, the matter of conferences with attorneys or other persons is wholly within the jurisdiction of the warden.

The court of appeals here agreed with Mills' contention and ordered the warden to permit the private conference between Mills and McDermott, but under agreement of counsel, serving of the order was delayed until yesterday, pending a motion for an appeal to the supreme court. The latter tribunal, after hearing arguments yesterday, decided to hear an application for a writ of error, filed by the state attorney general in behalf of the warden, and issued an order temporarily suspending the serving of the court of appeals' order on Warden Thomas, pending a final decision.

CANTONESE LEADER CLAIMS DISORDERS DUE TO "RUFFIANS"

Voices Protest Over
Bombardment By
Foreign Ships

SHANGHAI, April 2.—Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government, in a statement made public today accused "reactionary and counter revolutionary elements and local ruffians" of responsibility for the foreign outbreak at Nanking.

The statement, which was issued at Hankow present seat of the liberal government, under date of March 31, says in part:

"A commission of inquiry investigating the late events at Nanking has sent in a preliminary report establishing the outstanding fact that the disorders were the work of reactionary and counter revolutionary elements, who, during the confused conditions following the defeat of the northern rebels, and their white Russian mercenaries, instigated the rebel remnants—many of whom wore uniforms taken from nationalist soldiers who had previously been captured—and local ruffians to attack and loot foreigners in the city."

"The British, American and Japanese consulates were attacked and a few foreign lives unfortunately lost and some foreign property was looted before order could be fully restored by nationalists under Gen. Chiang Chien, who entered Nanking on March 24 at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The latter ordered the execution of many of those who had attacked foreigners."

"From four to six foreigners were reported to have been killed and about six wounded during these disturbances at Nanking."

"On the other hand, the estimate—which is under verification—places the Chinese casualties, as a result of the British and American naval bombardment, at a rate of more than 100 killed and wounded for every single foreign casualty."

"While the nationalist government will have to denounce the attack upon the British and other consulates at Nanking, and express deep regret for the foreign lives lost and the wounding of the British consul general and other foreigners, they (the nationalist government) have got to protest against the bombardment of Nanking with its large civilian population by British and American gunboats."

The unburned foreign buildings at Nanking, excepting the Standard Oil Company (of New York), and the Texas Company offices have been occupied by nationalist troops.

The foreign authorities report that the nationalists have not punished the soldiers at Nanking for recent outrages and are endeavoring to maintain the contention that local rowdies were responsible.

It is true, however, that a number of civilian mob leaders were executed by the Cantonese.

Foreigners at Soochow, in Kiangsu province, and throughout the northern part of the province have been ordered by Gen. Chang Sung Chang to evacuate immediately. In giving the order Gen. Chang announced that he intended to fight the nationalists in that region "to the finish."

PROBE MYSTERY OF MURDER OF YOUTH

TOLEDO, O., April 2.—While funeral services for Robert E. Wilson, 17, are being held here today, police continued attempts to ascertain how the youth came to his death.

Authorities are inclined to the belief that the boy was strangled to death, his throat cut by some sharp instrument and the body then carried to the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad track where it was found.

Sandusky officials state the boy's neck was broken. Deep cuts were found across the back of the neck and on the hands.

Absence of marks on the body, police said, indicates the boy was not hit by a train as was at first supposed. A pool of blood was also found fifty feet from the body.

BIBLE THOUGHT

Whoso mocketh the poor reproacheth his Maker; and he that is glad at calamities shall not be unpunished.—Proverbs 17:5.

CHILDREN TAUGHT WRONG

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt struck a suggestive note in an after-dinner talk at the recent housekeeping conference in Washington. Among "Portia's" duties as assistant attorney general of the United States at the Department of Justice is supervision of national prison affairs. "In the course of watching the parade of about 400,000 men and women who annually emerge from prison all over the United States," Mrs. Willebrandt said, "I think I have come to one interesting and fundamental conclusion. That is, that in innumerable cases these delinquents have to thank for their misfortunes the fact that in youth or childhood they had inculcated in them a wholly wrong conception of law. Too many of them were taught that law is a medium of restraint, instead of what it is—an opportunity for enlarged liberty."

WET ONLY ON THE WEST EDGE

The next day after the last election when the votes were counted and the politicians began to point with pride and in other ways at the results, the wet forces of the country sent up a great cheer declaring that three or four states, including California, had voted wet. They had it all doped out that these states had repudiated the dry laws and that it was the sacred will of the people that every one should have all the booze wanted without restraint or something to that effect. Just how they figured all this out the wets never made clear.

However, the California legislature now comes along and makes it clear in a most emphatic way that that state is as dry as the best of them.

In a recent editorial the Los Angeles Evening Express says:

"Adoption by the state Senate of the Jones bill, which makes possession of a still for illegal manufacture of intoxicating liquor a felony, the first test of wet and dry strength in the Forty-seventh Legislature, proved a sweeping victory for the dries, and an emphatic denial of the claim of wets that California if left free to express its true sentiment would be found against prohibition. The bill was carried by a vote of better than three to one, yet it was one to which a senator who was not in full sympathy with prohibition might consistently object, because of its drastic provisions, and run no risk of giving offense to a constituency which might be balanced between wet and dryness. There was no compulsion. The vote was a free and untrammelled expression of the will of the people of the state, as interpreted by their elected representatives in the state Senate, and it was 28 for the bill to only nine against, and of the nine seven represented San Francisco senatorial districts.

"It is felt after its victory in the Senate that the bill certainly will be passed by the Assembly, and become law through approval by the governor. Nothing so important and helpful to law enforcement has been done in this state since enactment of the Wright prohibition enforcement law."

PAYING FOR PAST VACATIONS

It is reported that some of the touring agencies are offering European trips for next summer on the installment plan. The traveler pays half the cost of his trip at the start and the other half in ten monthly payments after his return.

It is possible that the agencies will make money on the system and that many of the installment plan tourists will eventually pay in full for their trips. But one wonders how the agencies will get back their tours in case of defaulted payments.

Paying for one's vacation after it is all over, however pleasant memories of it may be, certainly appears to be unusually difficult. It would be much more practical to make these monthly payments into a Thrift Fund or a savings account for ten months in advance of the trip than to the agency for ten months after it's over.

Installment buying is the popular form of purchasing today, and some experts declare it has done much to stabilize industry and contribute to steady prosperity. Whether it can successfully be applied to vacations and travel is a question, which probably will be watched with great interest by the public.

Now that a Kansas judge has ruled that a husband needn't listen to his wife's conversation, there ought to be a ruling on whether a wife must endure her husband's silence.

KICK IN HANDSHAKE

Dr. William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, never holds a handshake bee on occasions of his periodical appearances away from Washington without letting people know that they've met him. He has a grip of steel, a habit inherited from cowboy days in Idaho and his years at the plow-handle.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota, thinks it was United States Marshal Gunwaldsen's "car-copier" handshake that put President Coolidge's right wrist out of commission the other day. But the President often has occasion to see Secretary Jardine, so the cause of the executive bandage may have lain nearer home.

There is still some use for a king in Italy. Vittorio Emanuele reviewed "his" troops the other day. Somebody's got to review troops, and Mussolini was too busy.

When Mere Man Has the Last Word

Keeping HEALTHY
by Dr. A. F. Currier

URIC ACID CONDITION

Miss C: Will you kindly publish an article on uric acid of the stomach or the uric acid condition which seems to be my trouble? I have no rheumatism, but granulation of the eyelids, fever blisters on my mouth most of the time, feel the cold very much in winter, have constipation, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, etc., in spite of strict abstinence from red meats, tomatoes, acid fruits and vinegar, and the free use of cathartics.

Answer—The uric acid condition is a perverse and obstinate one and, as in your case, often visits those who have lived a perfectly abstemious and correct life and seemingly overlooks others who have recklessly disregarded the laws of health. But that would not justify you nor me in disregarding sanitary precautions and throwing scientific rules overboard. We are surely safer, as a rule, in being particular about our habits and modes of living, as you have apparently been, and as I hope you will continue to be.

An eminent physician and dietitian of New York, Professor Porter, says that uric acid results from the chemical changes which take place in the albuminoid foods—fish, meat, milk and eggs principally; but that it is never found in these foods nor appears anywhere during the digestive process in the cells of the kidneys and is a waste or final product of food changes.

It is discharged with the urine, and when there is too much of it oxidation is not going on properly in the body.

When oxidation proceeds as it should, uric acid combines with other substances in the kidneys or bladder and is discharged from the body as such compounds.

One of these compounds, for example, is sodium urate, which is formed by combination of uric acid with sodium chloride (table salt) which circulates in solution in the blood.

Too much uric acid also means improper chemical changes in the albuminoid food, and that the uric acid has produced disease.

The tendency to excessive formation of uric acid is common in middle life and old age. It may come from worry and want of sleep, over exertion, improper diet, and free use of wine or beer.

It is seen in such diseases as rheumatism, gout, joint diseases and various forms of indigestion. It may lead to the formation of hard stones in the kidneys or bladder.

der, which amre very much more troublesome than those which are soft and easily broken.

It may be absorbed from the kidneys into the blood and deposited in the joints or other tissues.

When it is present or suspected, the bowels and kidneys must be kept moving freely, water and milk drunk in abundance and simple, laxative food eaten, such as bran, oils, prunes, figs and baked apples. Albuminoid foods must be eaten sparingly, especially meat, fish and eggs.

As these substances are responsible for uric acid, the less they are eaten, the less, as a rule, will there be of uric acid.

Ask Dr. Currier that medical question that has been puzzling you. Confine your letter to fifty words and send stamped, addressed envelope for reply. He cannot, of course, make individual diagnoses, and he reserves the right to decide as to the propriety of queries.

The Theatre

Efforts to revive the rapidly declining "road show" business which has fallen off alarmingly in the last two years, is reported in Time, news magazine.

The blow at the "road show" business was struck by the fact that the risqué, sophisticated productions of Broadway were unpopular with the Old Lady from Dubuque and her ilk.

The plans now originating, indicate that next season the road will see more of the best.

Minnie Maddern Fiske, Margaret Anglin and Harrison Grey Fiske announced a "migratory dramatic institution" whose Broadway appearance will be merely incidental to an itinerary that will include scores of cities.

"The Merry Wives of Windsor" by a former rising young playwright named William Shakespeare will tour thirty weeks. Otis Skinner will play the rogue. The plan is to produce classics principally, interspersed with modern American and European dramas.

The Theater Guild of New York will also launch a road enterprise next fall, four plays being presented in principal cities by a permanent company of Broadway actors under Guild supervision. They are: "Mr. Pim Passes By," "The Silver Cord," "The Guardsman" and "Arms and the Man."

KELLYGRAMS by FRED C. KELLY

OUR WASTE OF WORDS

I wish some patient, painstaking fellow with nothing else to do, would figure out how much paper and ink is wasted by the average person in writing down useless words.

I once started to save all the letters I received in a week and count the needless-long words. But the list grew so long that the job of tabulating the words became a nuisance.

I found that most people say "the sum of $10" when they mean $10. Here are a few more such phrases in common use, and their equivalents:

Extend an invitation—invite.
Take into consideration—consider.
Enough so that it will do—enough to do.

The purchase of—buy.
A large number of—many.
A majority of—most.

Due to the fact that—because.
The city of New York—New York.

In a prudent manner—prudently.
Put in an appearance—appear.

It is often the case that men fall—men often fail.
We say employ when we mean use; gratis for free; donation for gift; reside for live; numerous for many. Most firms have purchasing agents instead of buyers.

Many writers still drag in Latin phrases, such as per annum, for yearly.

Lawyers and business men are, perhaps, the worst offenders in this respect. Like the colored folks, they revel in high-sounding words. Lawyers may do it intentionally, to obscure facts; but business men are blindly following custom.

A supreme court judge recently told a lawyer that his thirty-six page brief could have better been put in thirty-six lines. All the rest, he said, were mere rigamarole.

A businessman accepting an invitation, once wrote:

"Your esteemed favor of the 13th instant to hand and contents noted, and in reply to same I beg to state that it will be a great pleasure to accept your kind invitation for next Friday evening."

Why couldn't he have said simply: "I'll be glad to come."

Quiller-Couch, in one of his books, quotes a man who wrote this: "I was indifferent as to the results of the game, caring not whether I made gains or suffered losses." He comments that all the man needed to say was: "I didn't care whether I won or lost."

Some years ago the following advertisement of a certain soap was prepared and submitted to the head of the business:

"The alkaline element and vegetable fats in this product are blended in such a way as to secure the highest quality of saponification along with a specific gravity that keeps it on top of the water, relieving the bather of the trouble and

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Swedish coffee cake goes straight to the masculine heart, and is recommended to the hostess for a "company" breakfast.

SWEDISH COFFEE CAKE

Beat to a cream one-half cup of butter and gradually beat into this one-half cup of sugar. Add four cups of flour with two spoons of baking powder, and add this to the creamed butter, etc., alternately with one-half cup of raisins, seeded, or a mixture of raisins and chopped nuts. Pour into the coffee cake pan, which is about 15x10 or 11 inches and one inch deep, and bake for twenty minutes at 375 degrees F. After the batter is poured into the pan the top is covered with the yolk of one egg, spooned over its surface. Granulated sugar enough to cover is sifted over and one-fourth to one-half cup of chopped almonds are sprinkled over all. When done cut in chunks and serve hot with butter.

annoyance of fishing around for it at the bottom during his ablutions." The story is that the boss, being a man of shrewdness and common sense, reduced all this to the simple words: "It floats."

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, April 2.—The New York papers carried a piece the other day by Henry Ford's friend, Arnold Bennett, saying that the twelve greatest novels were written by four Russians whose names it wouldn't do any good to print here because you couldn't pronounce them, anyway.

Arnold Bennett, having written a couple of good novels himself, the article might have carried some weight if the editor hadn't made the mistake of printing the Worthy Brother's picture. I took my first look at Mr. Bennett and then I laughed out loud, because I realized at once that Dickens, Thackeray, Bertha M. Clay and other Old Masters and Mistresses were safe.

Authors make a mistake letting editors run their pictures, when you read something particularly striking, powerful or pungent and then get a squirt at the lad who wrote it—looking as if he couldn't shake his faith in the proportions.

Arnold Bennett looks exactly like a picture I saw one time in an Arizona paper, of a gentleman in a patent medicine ad who invited the general public out to his place on the desert to view the little bungalow he had constructed entirely of gall stones.

Thomas Gonapoulos is a conscientious, hard-working young Broadway kitchen man. His weekly stipend is not large, but Thomas operates on the principle that devotion to duty, a clean conscience and a good appetite will carry anyone to success.

The other day he was handed a large box of silver polish, a bundle of rags, several small brushes and a mountain of silver knives and forks.

"Polish 'em," said the restaurant owner. "Shine 'em up till they glisten like a chorus girl's nose in the morning."

Gonapoulos rolled the sleeves of his green-orange-red-and-blue striped shirt high on his muscular Greek arms and fell to with a will. He scoured, scrubbed, rubbed and brushed, not even halting for mid-day sustenance.

When the 5 o'clock whistles sounded above the roar of the Big Town* the industrious Greek was still laboring. The pile of discouraged silver had been reduced to twelve lone knives.

Should he go on past the 5 o'clock hint and complete the task or should he remain true to the unwritten law of labor?

"No," said Thomas Gonapoulos, "I must cling to the traditions of my station. I must not betray the hundreds of thousands of my brethren in the ranks of the toilers the country over. I must abandon my task!"

Repairing to the washroom he removed all traces of toil from his complexion and started through the restaurant in the general direction of home.

His way led past the table where he had worked all day and his rain-colored eyes grew sad as he beheld the dozen lonesome silver blades, tarnished and unlovely in proximity to the glittering heap of rejuvenated cutlery.

"What a shame," he murmured. "What a shame! Only twelve knives left to clean out of all that pile. But I know what I shall do!"

Grabbing the dozen knives he crowded them into his overcoat pocket. He would take them home clean then before he retired, and deposit them bright and glorious on top of the silver pile next morning.

He forgot that there was a hole in the pocket of his Harris tweed coat and was startled and surprised when at 47th street and Broadway a knife slipped through the aperture, clanking to the pavement. Several persons paused to snicker and someone made a cold, unfeeling remark.

Then things became five, six, eleven times worse, as one by one the blades, tumbling one over the other, dropped to the resounding and unsympathetic sidewalk.

A police sauntered up and directed a series of insinuating questions, most trying to a soul as sensitive as that of Thomas Gonapoulos. He tried to explain that the knives represented a detail of conscientious endeavor.

"It's home work," he explained later to the magistrate.

"We call it petty larceny down here," replied the judge.

Moral: Science has yet to unearth a substitute for discretion.

How to Achieve Beauty

SPRING HATS AND SPRING COMPLEXIONS

Spring Make-up. There is something about these bright, lovely, pre-Easter days, that makes every woman want to take on loveliness. Freshness, brightness, sunshine, is in the very air—the joy of selecting new spring costumes seems to enter one's very blood. And as I said yesterday, in order to set off the new spring outfit, to the best possible advantage, one must put one's body and complexion in the best possible condition so as to the spring season.

your hair, eyes and the tone of your natural skin texture. Sooner by the colors you most often wear are affected most intimately by it. And thirdly, the shape and contour of your face are deeply involved as well.

In spring your make-up should take on a more natural effect. It must be more subtly and carefully applied so that it blends with the natural things with which you come in contact. In spring you are out of doors more—your activities are more athletic than in winter and so your make-up must not be quite so vivid—it must be slightly toned down to be in keeping with your sports clothes and your sports activities.

You will, therefore, need to select a new supply of cosmetics for the spring season. A softer tone of rouge, a slightly darker tone of powder than usual, and a lipstick that will blend with your rouge must be a part of your spring beauty kit. Your make-up must be applied to give the effect of a more studied carelessness in spring and summer than at other times of the year.

Don't use too much make-up, especially you women over 40. Your make-up should be very much more subtle than that of your younger sister. A young skin can "get away with" an extravagance of make-up not possible for the more mature. For the first essential of what might be called a good make-up is the smoothness or the foundation under it, and of course a fresh lovely skin, forms an ideal foundation for make-up.

SCHOOL PATRONS ENJOY ROUTE SOCIAL

The patrons of school routes 8 and 9 and their families met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Friday evening, March 25, to hold a social.

Patrons of these routes with Mrs. Pardy Wilson and Mrs. Nettie Brown as captains presented a very much enjoyed as well as humorous play entitled "Stranded Strangers" at the last P.T.A. meeting.

The forepart of the social evening was spent on conversation and games after which ice cream, pineapple cake, popcorn and apples were served to all. The following program was then enjoyed:

Music—Orchestra.

Piano, Mrs. Jake Smith, violins, Charles Hollingsworth and Raper Bales, banjos, Jesse Ary and Elbert Bales, accordion, Harley Hollingsworth.

Vocal quartet—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "When You and I Were Young Maggie."

Duet—Violin and accordion.

Vocal Duet—"Poor Uncle Ned," "Down on the Farm."

Reading—"Women," Pauline Woods.

Banjo Duet.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Babb and son, Tommy; Mr. and Mrs. William Trout and daughters Freda and Betty Jane; Mrs. Emma Devoe; Mr. and Mrs. Will Bales and children, Marion, Delbert and Bernada; Mr. and Mrs. Raper Bales; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bales and sons, Gerald and Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Venise Ary and daughter Joan; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hollingsworth and sons, Charles and Francis; Mr. Harley Hollingsworth; Mr. and Mrs. Pardy Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cline, Orville Fawley, Mrs. Nettie Brown and children, Henry and Mary; Mr. and Mrs. Jake Smith and daughter Kathryn; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lems and son, Roy Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ary and daughter, Wanda Mae; Mrs. Julia King; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lewis and children, Robert Lee and Kathryn Lenora; Mrs. C. A. Raymond, Delbert Brown, Ora Woods, Virgil Cline, Frank Smith and Darrell Martin.

POMONA GRANGE BROADCASTS PROGRAM

Through a make believe radio station, a program was broadcast featuring a meeting of Greene County Pomona Grange at the Knights of Pythias Hall here Wednesday. The Grange held a business meeting in the forenoon, and after dinner, the opening of the broadcasting program was announced in an original poem read by Mrs. St. John, the Grange lecturer.

Mr. Harry Hagler was in charge of the station and announced the program through a microphone. Imitating the Little Symphony Orchestra, New York, the Grange Orchestra opened the program with two numbers. Little Eileen Huston, of Jameson, played a piano solo, showing musical talent for such a young child. The Eskimos, well known broadcasters from a New York station, were represented by Susan Fudge and Dale Ritenour, who were dressed in furs and wrapped in deer skin.

Mr. Christopher Huffman, of Caesar Creek Grange, an "old time fiddler from Louisville, Ky.," rendered selections on his violin. The "A. and P. Gypsies," were introduced and rendered some real music on the violin and piano. This trio consisted of Mrs. Ray Fudge, Mrs. Erle Hutchison and Miss Lucile Ireland.

Prof. Sayre's "Little Family Orchestra," from Beaver Creek Township, played two numbers which were greatly enjoyed. As a special entertainer, Miss Catherine Van Peit, of Spring Valley Grange, sang "Annie Laurie" and "Comin' Thru the Rye." She was attractively costumed and dramatized the songs.

"Goldie and Dusty," radio stars, were represented by Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Thomas, of Xenia Grange. In black face and costumes, they entertained with song features and jokes.

Xenia Orchestra performed as the "Night Hawks" giving the final numbers on the program. For this feature special scenery was arranged, an electrical moon shining through green branches, and a huge hawk in the background.

Pomona Grange will hold its next meeting at Spring Valley, May 25, when a program will be put on by members of the juvenile grange.

XENIA W. C. T. U. HOLDS MEETING

Notwithstanding April showers thirty-six members and friends of "Xenia" W. C. T. U. gathered at the home of Mrs. John Dymond, Washington St., Friday afternoon.

The devotions were opened by a sacred number sung by the Misses Mary and Reva Dakin, followed by Scripture reading and prayer by a number of those present.

Mrs. Lester Olesch, director of Christian citizenship for the county, told of some of the duties performed by herself and others, to which they had been appointed by the W. C. T. U. She also gave an interesting review of the Union Signal, calling attention to the excellence of the paper.

Miss Mary Ervin, national president of young people's work, gave an account of her trip to the South, also of her experiences in Washington, D. C., having spent several weeks there on her way home. She attended a session of congress and the W. C. T. U. convention.

Little Emily Jean Powers, granddaughter of the hostess, gave two recitations, one of them having been composed by herself.

The Misses Dakin favored with another duet.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

"ALL UPSET" IS APRIL FOOL PARTY

Everything was turned around at the "April Fool" party given by members of Mr. R. E. Bryson's Sunday School class of the Second United Presbyterian Church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wagner, N. Detroit St., Friday evening.

Pictures were turned face to the wall, April fool messages greeted the visitors from the mirrors, and the decorations were of a holiday nature and had other features of a bygone period. April Fool stunts and contests were held and the evening closed with a "Jiggs" dinner of corned beef and cabbage. The table was decorated to carry out the general idea of the evening.

The hosts and hostesses with Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, were: Mr. and Mrs. William Billmyre, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bickett, Dr. H. B. McElree, pastor of the church and Mrs. McElree, Superintendent J. H. Nagley of the Sunday School and Mrs. Nagley were the guests of the class for the evening.

Mr. Guy Hutslar, president of the class, presided at a short business meeting, when the new calendar for the year was presented. Mr. Fred Williamson was in charge of the devotional. Forty-five persons enjoyed the evening.

BIRTHDAY OCCASION FOR DINNER PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Adams E. Second St., was the scene of a merry party Thursday evening when their five children and their families gathered for the purpose of celebrating the anniversary of Mr. Adams' birth. It was arranged as a surprise to Mr. Adams, and the company brought baskets filled with food for a delicious supper.

After supper a social time was spent until late. Mr. Adams was showered with felicitations upon his birthday anniversary.

Those who enjoyed the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Adams were: Mr. and Mrs. Arch Persinger of near Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cline and two children, Geneva and Virgil of Bowersville; Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams and children, Robert, Helen and Earl, of Bowersville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pickens and children, New Jasper; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Adams of Bowersville.

LAL BAGH SOCIETY TO MEET MONDAY EVE

China, now the leading topic in international affairs, will be the subject to be studied at a meeting of Lal Bakh missionary society of Trinity M. E. Church at the home of Mrs. Frank Bickett, W. Church St., Monday night. Mrs. George Eckler and Mrs. J. J. Stout will read the papers, the former on "Women of China, Yesterday and Today," and the latter on the topic "History and Political and Economic Situation in China." A general discussion will follow the reading of both papers.

The occasion will also be the annual thank offering meeting of the society. Mrs. B. F. Thomas is the group leader. Hostesses with Mrs. Bickett will be Mrs. Ernest Beatty, Mrs. George Eckler, Mrs. J. O. McCormick and Mrs. A. N. Spahr.

RURAL HOME CLUB HAS COMMUNITY MEET

One hundred persons attended a meeting of the Rural Home Community Club at the Rural Home school, west of Xenia, Friday night. An interesting program featured the meeting, including a talk by Prof. D. H. Barnes, a group of readings by Miss Mildred Mason and musical numbers by the Beaver Creek High School Orchestra.

An indoor circus followed the program, side shows and other typical circus features furnishing much amusement. Circus refreshments, sandwiches, ice cream cones, popcorn and coffee were sold. The occasion afforded much merriment, and credit was extended to Mrs. Mildred Watkins, teacher of the Rural Home school, for arranging the entertainment.

COMMUNITY CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

An Easter bonnet making contest and a spring flower making contest featured the meeting of the Goes Community Club at the home of Mrs. W. B. Bryson on the Clifton Pike, Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Cowden succeeded in turning out the most presentable bonnet, and Mrs. C. B. Bone made the best looking flower. Both were presented prizes. Easter decorations were used and the refreshment course followed the same idea. Twenty guests were received.

AID SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Jacob Baldner received twenty-four members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church at her home on W. Third St. Friday afternoon. Reading the annual reports of the officers and arranging plans for the congregational meeting to be held April 13, were features of the program. A refreshment course was served by Mrs. Baldner, and the assistant hostesses, Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. R. C. West and Mrs. O. A. Spahr.

HOUSE PARTY GUESTS HAVE REUNION

Xenia young folks who comprised a house party that was entertained at the home of Mrs. Kennon Dunham in Cincinnati last summer, will have a reunion at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Shields, E. Second St. Saturday evening, several of the young men and women who were in the group being home from college for the spring vacation. Those whom Mrs. Shields expects to gather for the reunion are: the Misses Mary, Barbara and Helen Little, Josephine Wolf, Margaret Kelly, Florence Chew, and Messrs. Arthur and Donald Currie, Fred, Edward and Henry Flynn, John Little and Horace Smith.

CARD CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Ed Smith was hostess to her card club at her home, 206 S. King St., Friday evening. Four tables of 500 were in play, and the high score winners for the evening were Mrs. Roy Bayliff and Mrs. Henry Buckles. A refreshment course was served after the games.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Conwell and their daughter, Sarah Madge, and Miss Jean Fauber of Washington C. H., were entertained Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conwell, of Chestnut St. The occasion was the birthday anniversaries of both Mrs. H. E. Conwell and Mrs. C. E. Conwell. The party motored to Dayton Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Forest Dunkle is recovering from the effects of a tonsilectomy which she underwent Friday.

Mrs. Harry Wright and three children, of Cedarville went to Seaman, O., Saturday to spend two weeks with Mrs. Wright's parents. Mr. Wright motored to Seaman with his family but will return Sunday evening.

Mr. William Finlay returned Saturday from Miami, Fla., where he spent the last five months, and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Finlay, Chestnut St. Mr. Finlay has been employed as service man for the Frigidaire department of the Delco at Miami. He does not know whether he will be returned to the southern territory by the concern.

Judge Marcus Shoup, accompanied by Mrs. Shoup, is expected to return home Monday from Cleveland where he underwent a serious operation for inward goitre, at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital. Judge Shoup has been discharged from the hospital and is at a hotel where he has been under observation for several days by the surgeons.

Mr. R. S. Kingsbury has returned to Rochester, Minn., where he enters the Mayo Clinic to resume treatments for trouble which developed some time ago as the result of an old injury to his left leg. Mr. Kingsbury spent some time at Rochester where the treatments improved his condition and upon the advice of physicians he returned to Xenia and submitted to a tonsilectomy. He has recuperated after the operation, and started Wednesday night for Rochester.

Members of Shawnee Encampment, No. 20, I. O. O. F., are asked to be present at a meeting Monday evening to prepare for the trip to Dayton being planned.

Smoker and light refreshments will follow the conferring of the Royal and Select Masters Degree on a class of two candidates at a meeting of Wright Council, No. 96, R. and S. M., Monday night at the Masonic Temple, instead of the banquet as previously announced.

Mrs. H. S. LeSourd and her children, Miss Helen, and Richard, started Saturday morning on a motor trip to New York. The party stopped at Zanesville, for Mr. William LeSourd, who will accompany them on the trip, which is being made during the spring school vacation.

Mr. Rolly Shaw is confined to his home on W. Second St. suffering from a severe attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Arbogast motored to Cincinnati Saturday to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. David Davies, formerly of this city. Mrs. H. L. Sayre, who has been visiting relatives in Cincinnati for several days, will accompany them home Monday.

Mrs. S. C. Wright, S. Detroit St., returned Friday evening from Indiana, Ind., where she spent some time with her mother, Mrs. John Johnsonbaugh, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wisecup, 111 S. Whiteman St., are announcing the birth of a son, William Joseph, Thursday night.

Mrs. Jang Bell will be the guest for the week end of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Carder, in Dayton.

Mrs. Raymond Osborn, of 18 Vine St., is recuperating nicely after undergoing a serious operation at the McClellan Hospital Friday morning.

HE CELEBRATES

CHIEF GRAHAM

April 1 had an altogether different meaning for Police Chief M. E. Graham.

The chief celebrated Friday the eighth anniversary of his appointment as head of the Xenia Police Department.

He entered upon his duties as chief April 1, 1920 and has served continuously as a member of the department since June 1907, twenty years ago.

Time, an ancient gentleman with a fur-bearing chin, an obsolete scythe and suffering badly from fallen arches, will show Greene Countians what a set of monkey glands can do if they lie awake until 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The old gentleman, consistently maligned by reports that he speeds by on golden wings, whereas ample callouses indicate his usual form of locomotion, is going to put on the fastest show on record for the benefit of western Ohioans Sunday morning.

The show will consume an hour but will not last more than a second or two, paradoxically speaking. In other words old Father Time, all pepped up with youth glands inserted by that able surgeon, the Interstate Commerce Commission, is going to Charleston out of his usual shuffle just to prove how lightning fast he is.

More than 30,000 Greene Countians who will assist in the program, will suddenly see this feeble character jump from 2 o'clock to 3 o'clock, a mere span of sixty minutes or 3,600 hundred seconds, in the record breaking time of nothing at all. And he will not make this leap on golden wings but on little brass wheels, imitation jewels and smart hunting cases and Big Bens that adorn Greene Countians' mantle-pieces, vest pockets and lily-white wrists.

By the time, George Swartz, able Court House custodian, has contrived to move the ponderous point, or that reckons time in the Court House tower, it is estimated that every hour hand in the county will have been guided into its new position for the race which will be from now on.

Absent-minded citizens who retire Saturday night without adjusting their time-pieces may walk to church Sunday morning in time to find their friends coming home. Lazier souls who remain at home may tune in on the radio church services in time to hear the luncheon concert. Homeless citizens may meet the noon restaurant crowd coming out and wake up to find that the rest got all the gravy. Without being exactly brutal, it might be said that rebellious citizens who refuse to advance their clocks out of spite, may wake up to hear the large majority singing "They're all out of step, but you."

Forgetful citizens, inspired by the continued daylight, may work later Monday evening and come home to cold and disconsolate, not to mention lackadaisical, dinners. But golf fans, being neither absent-minded, lazy, hopeless, rebellious or forgetful, will be in the clubhouse at 1 o'clock instead of 12. In the meantime it is largely a matter of turning everything ahead except the gas meter. Altogether now, let's turn.

Altogether the change imposed by the commission order which will soon become a law of Ohio, imposes slight obligation on all the well-known human beings compared with the so-called dumber animals, if any.

The browsing bovine, gently masticating the juicy thistle, may forget to come home to be milked. The lowly porker, wallowing in the mire of forgetfulness may miss his usual portion of choice slop. The anxious hen, obligated to pre-empt duties in which the fake reputation of an impotent rabbit must be sustained, may find herself exhausted at the end of a day so long that it naturally calls for two eggs. And the long-suffering horse may lose her beauty sleep while pulling a plow for a man who takes advantage of the long evenings.

All of these barnyard potentialities may adjust themselves however, before the sweltering midsummer sun finds its apex reached at 1 o'clock instead of 12. In the meantime it is largely a matter of turning everything ahead except the gas meter. Altogether now, let's turn.

One hundred dollars each! That's what these roses are valued at. They were a feature of the New York flower show. Anna Case is shown admiring them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Conwell and their daughter, Sarah Madge, and Miss Jean Fauber of Washington C. H., were entertained Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conwell, of Chestnut St. The occasion was the birthday anniversaries of both Mrs. H. E. Conwell and Mrs. C. E. Conwell. The party motored to Dayton Thursday afternoon.

OLDSMOBILE SHOWS TEN BODY MODELS; ALL SNAPPY STYLES

Ten body types comprise the line of Oldsmobiles sold here by Grover Bales. These include sedans, landau, coupes, roadster, and two newly designed tourings with rigid side curtains that can be used with the top either up or down.

These various body types are all mounted on the Oldsmobile chassis equipped with the many developments of the past year, including the new type four-wheel brakes, and 5.25 balloon tires announced by Oldsmobile.

Mohair upholstery is used on all closed body types, while genuine leather is used on open cars. All cars are finished in two and three colors of Duco.

High grade rugs and rubber mats are used on the floors. The interior fittings are satin nickel. Combination match and ash receptacles are set in the back of the front seat in the sedan and landau models and on the right side of the body of coach models.

ASKS DAMAGES

Suit for $1,500 damages has been filed in the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court by Elmer E. Lehman, 506 Keith Building, Dayton, against Daniel Myor, 55 S. June St., Dayton, for alleged failure to comply with an agreement to trade farms in Greene and Clark Counties.

Just as the trade was about to be completed, Myor sold his farm to another party, Lehman charges.

HE SAID THAT HE COULD AND HE DID IT

Major H. O. D. Segrave brought his weird Mystery-S car to this country declaring he would make 200 miles an hour in it on the Daytona Beach sand track. On second attempt, he set mark for all time of 203.7928 miles per hour, officially timed, which is 27 miles an hour better than previous world record, and 47 miles better than America's fastest. Picture shows record-breaking car and driver.

FORD AFFORDS WIRE WHEELS FOR COUPES WITHOUT NEW PRICE

Ford coupes were added to the list of models on which Ford wire wheels are furnished as standard equipment, at no extra cost, February 21.

This standardizes wire wheels on all enclosed models at no extra cost—equivalent of a price reduction of $30—and has been welcomed by the entire organization. It has given them an opportunity to satisfy a preference which has long existed in the minds of a great many buyers for wire wheels rather than the usual wood type wheels.

Ford one-piece wire wheels are the only wheels of their type. They contain 110 less pieces than other wire wheels of the same size and are stronger than wood wheels.

PAIGE FOUR-SPEED TRANSMISSION HAS ADDED POPULARITY

Motorists in regions where hills are hills will be especially enthusiastic users of the newly developed four-speed transmission with two high gear drives, introduced with the Paige eight, according to Henry Krohn, vice president of the Paige-Detroit Company, who has just completed a trip across the Rockies and along the Pacific coast.

Krohn timed his western trip so as to visit the Los Angeles automobile show, being eager to learn of the public's reaction to the new eight. He was more than pleased with its acceptance.

"The four-speed trend, which is bound to follow the introduction of the new transmission by the Paige," said Krohn, "will work an extraordinary improvement in driving under any conditions."

All Chrysler cars are protected against theft under the Federal System. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan.

To literally scores of thousands, Chrysler "60" is proving that its public preference is based upon the soundest of buying reasons—unmistakable money-value. There's more than a thrill in the "60's" pick-up and in its speed ability of sixty miles and more an hour with exceptional ease. There's speed without the least effort, combined with most unusual riding comfort and handling facility. Mechanically, the "60" has many of the very same features to be found in the Chrysler "70" or Imperial "80": Seven-bearing crankshaft, invar-strut pistons, impulse neutralizer, manifold heat control, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure lubrication, hydraulic four-wheel brakes and shock absorbers. Come, see the Chrysler "60"—and note the essential fineness of its Standardized Quality manufacture. You'll recognize, especially after driving it, there isn't another six of its price that even begins to compare with it in quality and value.

Traditional Paige Performance

All the latest mechanical improvements such as bronze-backed interchangeable bearings—air cleaners—silent chain timing—cushioned clutches—balanced crankshafts and balanced propeller shafts too—and Paige-Hydraulic 4-wheel brakes; self-equalizing, rattle and trouble-proof.

Millions of men and women passed through the turnstiles of the Auto Shows this Spring, and went—where? You were there. You saw it! The crowds were at the Paige exhibit—Paige and one or two others. And they were not only looking—they were buying!

In New York many more actual sales were made at the Show than ever before in the 18 years of successful Paige history. New York enjoyed a 300% increase in Paige sales in 1926 over 1925. Similar things happened at Chicago—at Detroit, Cleveland, Milwaukee, San Francisco, and elsewhere.

This tremendously greater buying interest followed fast upon the heels of the unprecedented increases in sales Paige enjoyed everywhere last year. Think of it—Paige sales in 1926 showed the amazing gain of 448% over 1925.

This will undoubtedly be the greatest Paige year in the 18 years of successful Paige history. Come see these cars—there's no obligation.

SPARKLING COLORS FEATURE CHRYSLER SPRING OFFERINGS

The new motor car color harmonies which were the outstanding feature of the national automobile shows are making their sparkling and conspicuous appearance on the highways today. The wide range of colors in which the new cars are offered attains a high degree of artistry by the use of novel and strikingly harmonious blendings and combinations that run the gamut of the rainbow.

The shadows adopted for this spring's offerings trend strongly to the picturesque in names as well as in color tones. Chrysler engineers, who led the vogue for duotone color contrasts three years ago and who have evidently scored another success with the attractive and distinctive color distribution which made their cars the center of admiration at the national shows, call attention to the interesting significance and widely varied origins of many of the names the new colors bear.

Cedarville College Notes

The debate Monday evening in the Alford Auditorium was very well attended. The Cedarville team composed of James McMillan, Robert Turnbull, and Paul Orr upheld the affirmative and the Wittenberg team argued for the negative. The question was "Resolved: That Direct Primaries Should Be Abolished." As this was not a contest to show which team was superior no judges were employed. After the debaters had finished their argument an open forum was held and everyone was given the permission to ask questions.

Cedarville College now has a paper it can call its own. The first issue was sold after the Wittenberg Girls Glee Club entertainment Wednesday night. The new paper is known as "Cedar Needles."

Mr. Day Kennedy, Coulterville, Ind., was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. for next year. He will complete the cabinet with his own selections. Previously all members of the cabinet had been elected but the new plan will be tried next year.

The Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting Wednesday morning. Miss Viola Curry favored with a violin solo. The main part of the meeting was the discussion of the fourth commandment.

The annual spring vacation started Thursday at noon. Work will be resumed next Wednesday morning at eight o'clock, eastern standard time.

DANGEROUS TRIP IS STARTED IN BUICK BROUGHAM IS SAID

Over ancient trails fraught with danger, through hub-deep sand under a sun which shows no pity for man or car, a man, his wife and daughter are blazing trails which never before showed the tracks of an automobile tire. This man is Lieut. Col. E. Alexander Powell, noted American war correspondent, author and globe-trotter.

Col. Powell left America with his family on a trip which will take them all over the world. They spent the winter visiting the islands in the eastern Mediterranean, including Crete, Cyprus, Rhodes, Malta and Corfu. What material Col. Powell gathers there will be included in a book entitled "Mediterranean Moorings."

The trip and the writing of his book will take him through Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and others of those newer countries. Col. Powell's car, a 1927 Buick brougham, is specially equipped with a typewriter and table, as well as many other conveniences so necessary on a long, arduous tour.

EVANGELIST WILL CONDUCT SERVICES

The Friends Church, this city, is planning two weeks special services to start Sunday, April 3 and end Easter Sunday.

Evangelist Orley Smith of Carmel, Ind., will have charge of the services, the church having engaged him early last fall to come at this time.

The Rev. Mr. Smith is expected to arrive Saturday evening and will take charge of the morning and evening services Sunday. The church has been having special prayer services for these meetings, which have been well attended.

The Rev. Russell Burkett, pastor, will assist the evangelist. Grover C. Crawford will lead the singing.

DIES FROM FUMES

CLEVELAND, O., Apr. 2.—Julia Dozpoly, 18, is dead here today as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning. The girl was found dead in a bathroom at her home after her mother became alarmed and broke the lock on the door. Fumes from a small gas stove were held responsible for the girl's death.

BODY UNIDENTIFIED

CLEVELAND, O., April 2.—The body of the woman who leaped fifty feet to her death in Lake Erie from the cliffs at Perkins Beach Thursday night is in the county morgue still unidentified. Police believe she came to Cleveland from some other part of Ohio or perhaps another state.

WHIPPET TO VISIT XENIA ON NON-STOP TRIP

Sent away from Toledo at noon Saturday an Overland Whippet will be driven over the highways of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky for seven days and seven nights, without a motor stop until noon, April 9.

Cash prizes are being offered for the closest estimate to the total mileage and gasoline average made by the Whippet in this 7-day run. Register your guess with The Greene County Hardware Co. and watch the papers and our showroom windows for reports of the Whippet progress.

GETTING BACK TO NATURE PLEASURABLE, PROFITABLE GARDENING AT HOME

By JOHN A. CRAWFORD
Specialist in Horticulture
THIRD ARTICLE

Pooh won the war with a plan. His goal was German territory. A home gardener will win his campaign for beautifying his place with a plan. His goal is to reassemble what Nature left off, or enterprising civilization swept off his house.

He aims to make the house, lawn, drive, trees, flowerbeds, chicken coop, trellis, back-fence and garage look as if they grew there and quite as much at home as the boulders and oaks on a rugged hillside or the brook bubbling its gay way through the fields.

Furthermore, if he succeeds, he will have added 10 to 15 per cent to the worth of his place. Ask any real estate man, if you doubt it.

Note the accompanying drawings. One depicts a clumsy "Y" of a drive way that smites the beholder. Its isolated shrubs are as inviting as a cactus in mid-desert, and that line of shrubs next to the walk looks as if they should be peeled away from it. The trees look like umbrellas and are leggy, and would beckon a sparrow out of the wind or rain, let alone a human.

If the passerby should recover from the shock of that driveway to look into this lot again, what else is there to impress him? Little, and he passes on.

Alongside it is the same lot re-laid. The "Y" is tucked under the trees. The shrubs on the lawns have been lined along west boundary, the tall ones to the rear where they will appear to whisper to the trees beyond them, on the next lot, and the dwarfed ones in front listening to the grass grow in the morning. Their skyline is now near the street and higher as it approaches the trees.

The other sketch shows a house in the middle of an ordinary-sized house lot. Note these characteristics of good landscaping in it. First, the lower right hand side of the lawn has no wall of shrubs. It allows the family on the piazza a vista to the neighbor's front garden. The arrow X lets the passerby glimpse through the hollyhock row at H to the bird-bath and the rose beds beyond it. At arrow Y the caller spies the same enticing entrance and he wants to see your garden beyond it, because the entrance is so inviting.

Second, the service yard, SY, chicken run CR, and vegetable garden VG are walled off by shrubs,

JUDGE RETURNS OWN VERDICT OVER JURY

ASHLAND, O., April 2.—A judgment of $416.50 in favor of Guy and Orpha Portner, against Lester and Bertha Kershner, growing out of a civil lawsuit, was on file in common pleas court here today, having been entered by Judge Charles Chapman, following the refusal of a jury to return an instructed verdict for that amount.

The jurors, seven men and five women, refused to sign the judgment, and one told court attaches he would pay a fine rather than sign it, it was said. The suit, growing out of a defaulted land contract, was among the first to be tried by Judge Chapman.

Members of the jury panel were dismissed, with instructions to report back next Monday. Judge Chapman did not indicate whether any further action would be taken.

REPORTED DYE WILL RESIGN PARTY JOB

COLUMBUS, O., Apr. 2.—Resignation of Thomas E. Dye, Urbana, as chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, will be handed to the Democratic state central committee Wednesday, it is reported.

No confirmation of the reports was available, state headquarters declining to comment in the absence of Mr. Dye, who is on a business trip in southern Ohio.

The meeting of the central committee will be "to consider a number of business matters," officials said.

Friends of the chairman here today indicated his reported resignation was to permit him to devote more time to business ventures now being organized.

Mr. Dye was elected executive committee chairman in 1924, succeeding W. W. Durbin, Kenton.

BELLBROOK

City Manager S. O. Hale and wife, of Xenia, were Bellbrook visitors, Wednesday.

Jesse Weaver has piped gas into his dwelling.

Rev. Young, of the M. E. Church, started a series of meetings on last Sunday night. There will be meetings each evening of the present week.

Mr. and Mrs. Haas of E. Maple St., entertained friends from Dayton last Sunday.

Rev. Merrill Scarff of Spring Valley filled Rev. Griffes pulpit at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wetzel visited Mrs. Wetzel's father and mother at Gandertown last Sunday.

The county commissioners are putting the finishing touches on the Dayton and Wilmington pike. The Clark Hampton family musical entertainers, of Middletown, will reappear in the village on next Saturday night with an entertainment in the new schoolhouse. The proceeds will be applied for the benefit of the local K. of P. lodge.

Cliff Maxwell has sold his farm and will take up his abode in the J. L. Myers property on E. Franklin St.

Charles Hurley is making improvements on the farm formerly owned by D. H. Hopkins.

Mrs. Minnie Wetzel entertained the Willing Workers Sunday School class at her home on last Wednesday night. The program consisted of a devotional meeting, a business meeting and a literary program followed by refreshments. Those to enjoy the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hess and daughter Wanda, Mrs. Carl Wright and children, Mrs. James Tracey and children, Mrs. Harriet Weaver and son, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Spahr, Mrs. Joseph Daugherty, Mrs. Gertie Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. William Spitzer and Mrs. Ina Hess.

Life's Getting Faster, Folks

Another speed record was broken when Major H. O. D. Seagrave, British speed king, went 203.841 miles in his "Mystery S" auto (center), exceeding the previous record by more than twenty-five miles an hour. The auto record keeps gaining on the train record of 120 miles an hour set by a Florida East Coast flyer in 1901, but is still far behind the plane record of 248.975 miles an hour, set by Lieutenant Cyrus Bettis, U. S. A.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

There is true satisfaction in a car that you can buy with confidence... and own with pride.

And proved on the Proving Ground... proved in the trials of months and miles... proved by the unerring evidence of ever increasing popularity and owner praise—Oldsmobile assures you brilliant performance, thrift and long life, comfort and beauty... lasting satisfaction.

But get behind the wheel; your own experience is the final proof.

See it yourself—drive it yourself—know it yourself... and then you will say—

"Here is a truly great car... no doubt about it!"

The WAY I FEEL ABOUT IT

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Life bears mostly unhappiness for one with a simple income and a complicated taste.
EPH SNOW
"The great danger to society is not bolshevism," said Eph Snow, "but little men with big power who call themselves 'good citizens'."

CURVES
Curves for women are coming back this spring, but what we'd like to know is whether our pitchers' curves are coming back this spring.

AND MAKE THE SQUEAL
Police judges may not be butchers, but they often "stick" road hogs.

A BUTCHER KNIFE WILL DO
All brides do not use can-openers. Some of them use hatchets.

WHO REMEMBERS
When a prizefight was considered so disgraceful it had to be staged in an old barn out in the country late at night, where the sheriff couldn't find out about it?

IN OUR TOWN
The Weekly Clarion, which lost nearly all its subscribers when it refused to publish the details of Browning trial, is getting them back since it began printing a sprightly sex serial.

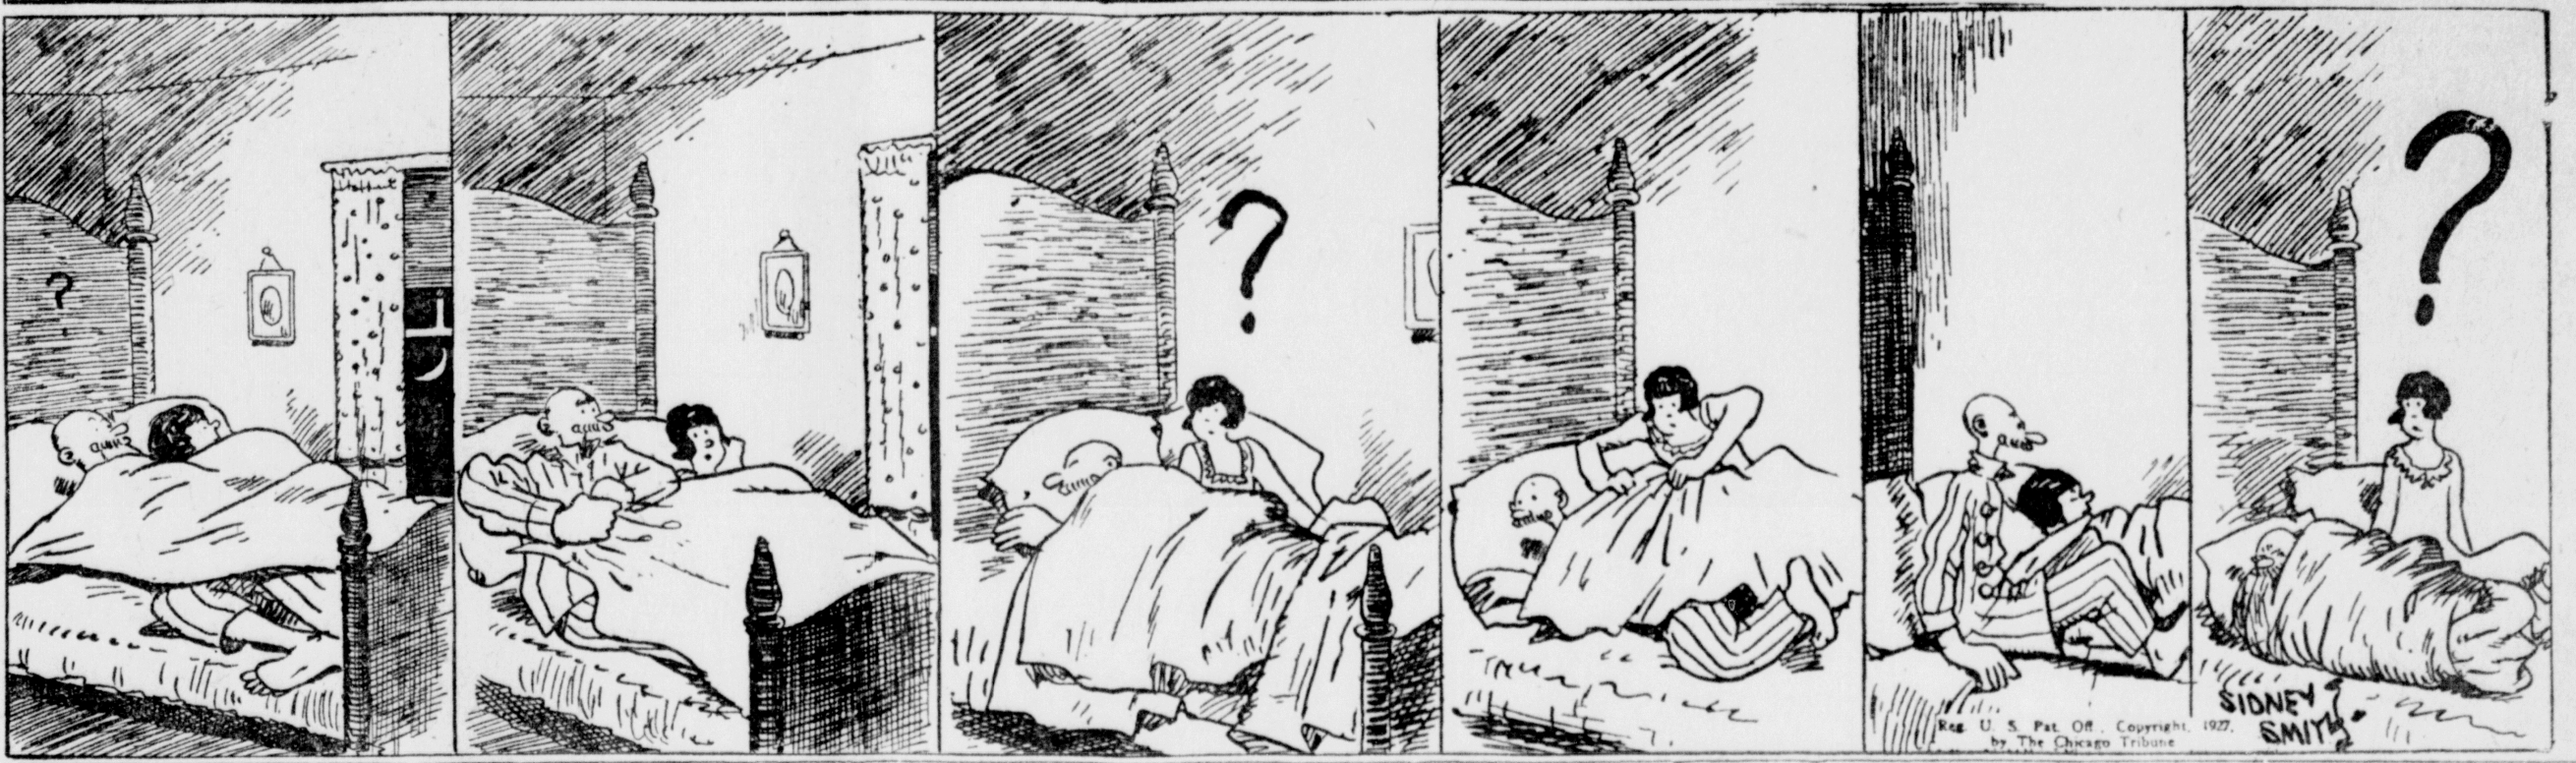

THE POINT OF VIEW
The worst waste of time is trying to drive home an argument.
When there's "nobody home" there

To drive it to.
HALF-MINUTE ESSAY
They're always kidding Adam about losing a rib.
It's time to end that rib "roast." Truth is, Adam didn't lose a rib—it was his backbone he lost when he couldn't resist Eve's apple. But at that a man who would trade a garden for an apple is no kind of ancestor to discuss with the Daughters of the American Revolution.
And he was nasty, too, and taunted her about the apple: "That was a good one you pulled the other day."
Still Adam has his points. He would have been the last man to bring about being the first man.
Modest, that way, even if he didn't wear any clothes.

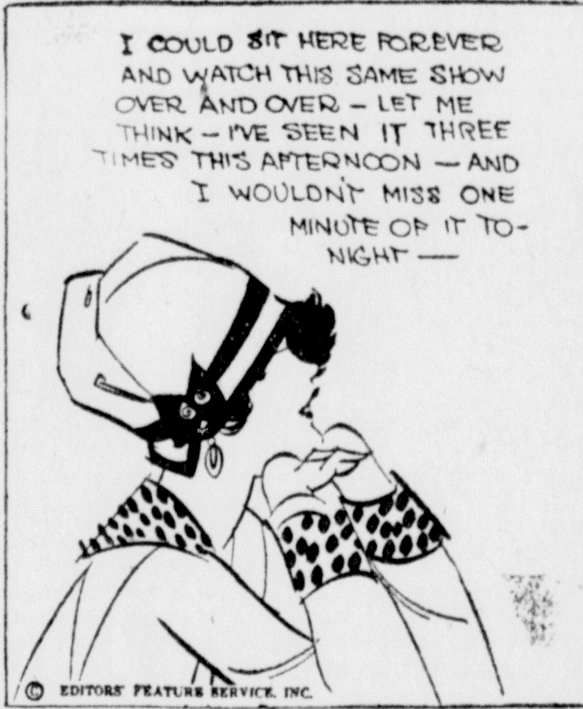

SPRING FASHION NOTE
Lawn dresses soon will be here again; also lawn hose.
SHORT STORIES
The primary teacher sent Eva, the littlest girl, out to the school playground to find how many children had arrived for the morning session, and Eva duly reported: "Six kids out there. Five of 'em are boys and I don't know what the other one is."

"What makes young Sapley look so sour?"
"He has a right to be—he was fired from the glee club."

DR. PATTERSON IS NAMED MEMBER OF CHEMISTRY BOARD

Dr. Austin M. Patterson, N. King St., has received notice from the National Research Council of his re-appointment for a term of three years, as an American member of the Council of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry.

Dr. Patterson at once offered his resignation in favor of some one who would be able to attend the next meeting of the council which will be held in Warsaw, Poland, in September 1927. The research council, however, refused to accept his resignation.

There are five other American members of the council of the International Union, as follows: M. T. Bogert, of Columbia University; John Johnston, of Yale; C. L. Reese of the Dupont de Nemours Company; E. W. Washburn, chief chemist of the U. S. Bureau of Standards and C. L. Parsons, secretary of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Patterson who is internationally known as an authority on chemical nomenclature, attended the meeting of the council of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry in Bucharest two years ago, and the 1926 meeting which was held in Washington. He is a member of the faculty of Antioch College.

LETTERS AWARDED TO SPRING VALLEY HIGH BASKET STARS

Twelve members of the boys' and girls' basketball teams of Spring Valley High School were awarded letters at an athletic banquet honoring the two court squads at the school Friday night.

The presentation was made by Principal A. W. Drewes. Covers were laid for thirty people at the banquet.

Members of the boys' squad receiving letters included Captain Donald Peterson, Carlos Wilson, Luther Lumpkin, Lawrence Vandeman, Homer Hurley and William Beam. Captain Peterson is the only senior.

Girls awarded letters were Captain Catherine Noggle, Hazel Griffy, Norma Gaddis, Dorothy Connard, Dorothea Villars and Kathryn Van Pelt. All are seniors with the exception of Miss Griffy.

Color scheme of red and black, the school colors, was carried out in the decorations. The tables were decorated with red candles placed in crystal sets, a profusion of red flowers and baskets filled with mints.

The favors consisted of miniature basketballs with red ribbons attached. Place cards were of red color design with small basketballs at the top and the hand-painted napkins bore the high school initials and a basketball design.

A three-course banquet was served the athletes by girl students of the Home Economics department of the school.

$30,000 Holdout

Thirty thousand dollars a year—or Eddie Roush won't play baseball with the New York Giants, he announced. He spurned an offer of $60,000 for three years, and with the season about to start, this balking embarrassed the club.

Introducing 1927 Big League Clubs

By DON Q. DUFFY

Special Baseball Writer, EFS
The process of rebuilding the Pittsburgh Pirates, a fallen champion, started with a general housecleaning that saw the manager, who won the 1925 National League pennant and then the world's series, deposed one year later.

The Pirates of 1927 will present Owen "Donie" Bush for their manager. A two-fisted flyweight as a player, Bush earned his managerial diploma in the minor league circuit after he was considered a complete bust in directing the Washington Senators.

Developing the Indianapolis Hoosiers into a pennant contender in the American Association, Bush attracted the major league magnates who were considering changes last fall. Going about his business secretly, Dreyfuss looked into Bush's record and decided the midget was the one to rebuild the Pirates.

At that the Pirates of 1927 only need oiling in a few spots. In spite of the charge of mutiny in camp, collapse of harmony and other essentials necessary for a winning ball club, the Pirates of 1926 were a dangerous challenger for the National League flag until the last three weeks of the season.

To prove the 1926 vehicle was not a complete bust Dreyfuss is bringing back sixteen members of last year's squad. And they form the nucleus for a pretty fair ball club. If they will get a little help from the new additions the Corsairs promise to say more than a few whispering words about who's who in the National League this coming season.

Admitting everything starts with the pitching staff the Pirates introduce seven performers who belong to the top flight. They are Alldridge, Bush, Kremer, Meadows, Morrison, Songer and Yde. Pretty fair pitching right there.

The expected new strength is to come from Mike Cvetengros, a broad-shouldered southpaw, who had several big league trials, drifted down to the Southern Association and was plucked by the Pirates in the draft.

There are other pitching recruits, but not much is expected from George Peery, alter Tauscher, Guy Morrison and Elbert Hammock.

Three new catchers have joined the Pirates. They are Claude Linton, Ike Danning and Thomas Parr, but it is difficult to see how they are going to crowd around the plate with Earl Smith, Johnny Gooch and Roy Spencer on the staff.

The infield, at one spot, forms a problem for Donie Bush. George Grantham is a handy first baseman and he will be back on the job; Glen Wright is all that is desired for shortstop and Pie Traynor wears the crown among the third basemen. Which leaves second base open for competition.

Had Rhine, a frisky juvenile from California, who was with the Pirates all of last season, has been converted from a shortstop to a second baseman. At least, Hal will get the opportunity to win his spurs around the middle cushion. Joe Cronin is another candidate.

GETS APPOINTMENT

GEORGE H. SMITH

George H. Smith, attorney, has been appointed commissioner of insolvents by Probate Judge S. C. Wright. The move is expected to result in an effort to free liquor prisoners on the indigent debtor law.

TWO YOUTHS BEGIN LANCASTER TERMS

Two youths given indeterminate sentences to the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, Pa., on juvenile delinquency charges by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright, were taken to the reform school Saturday in the custody of Probation Officer J. E. Watts.

They were: Joseph Honaker, 15, colored, paroled prisoner from Canton, O., and Henry Hopkins, who was arrested with Floyd Johnson for theft of auto accessories from a private garage in this city. Johnson is held to the grand jury.

SENIORS INSPECT STATE BUILDINGS

A group of Central High School seniors, in charge of Sheriff Ormer Tate and Secretary Oliver Belden, of the auto club, motored to Columbus Friday and visited various state-owned institutions. Principal Spencer Shank and several teachers also made the trip, which has become an annual custom since its inauguration a number of years ago.

C. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Richard Bartell, picked up as a free agent, is the only new infielder. With Hazen Cuyler set for center field and Paul Waner proving himself a phenom last summer out in right field, the only opening in the outfield will be left.

This hazard was seen by Barney Dreyfuss for he instructed his scouts to grab all the promising youngsters. They came in with Herman Layne, from Toronto; Fred Brickell, from Wichita; Adam Comorosky, from Williamsport; Lloyd Waner, from Columbia, and Carl Frey, from Johnstown.

These youngsters will find Clyde Barnhart on the job again, but as Barnhart skidded down the ladder considerably last season there is an opening for one of the recruits to win a permanent place.

Bush is the type who will not tolerate any secret whisperings around the bench; he will not have an assistant to receive tales from the disgruntled athletes and all in all the Pirates form a legitimate contender for the National League pennant this season.

No Compromise Near In Soft Coal Strike

UNION MUST LAUNCH ARBITRATION MINE OPERATORS STATE

Ohio Conference May
Assume Lead In
Peace Efforts

CHICAGO, April 2.—No compromise was in sight today as the suspension of soft coal mining in the unionized central competitive field entered its second day.

Operators openly declared the first move for a new conference must come from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

"We are willing at all times to talk the situation over with union officials," said Rice Miller, president of the Coal Operators Association of Illinois, "but we cannot afford to pay the Jacksonville wage scale and survive in competition with non-union fields."

It was the termination of the Jacksonville scale, providing a basic day wage of $7.50 that caused the suspension of mining throughout the field which embraces western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The 150,000 union miners out of work in this field have been joined by an estimated 50,000 in Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas.

The miners are as emphatic in declaring they will not work for less than they have been receiving for the past three years as are the operators in saying they cannot afford to pay them $7.50 a day any longer.

Both sides declare they anticipate no disorders.

In Illinois, where 72,000 men are employed, operators recently declared they would get nowhere if they tried to run their mines on an open shop basis and had no intention of trying it.

Under the miner's qualification act a state board has power to prevent mines from operating if they have no certificate. This body is understood to be dominated by union men.

As this is normally the beginning of the slack season neither operators nor men were unduly concerned over the situation and it was generally believed that after a suitable interval a new conference would be called.

CLEVELAND, April 2.—With the scheduled conference between Ohio United Mine Workers representatives and Ohio operators at Columbus April 7, this state may assume the lead in attempts to resume coal mining in the unionized central competitive field.

THREE MINERS DIE FROM MONOXIDE GAS

MORGANTOWN W. Va., April 2.—Miners were gathered at the Connelsville by product mine today for a third attempt to enter the shaft, following the death of three men from monoxide gas fumes late Friday. The dead are C. R. Rushton, Frank Burns and William Heagy, all of Parkersburg, Pa.

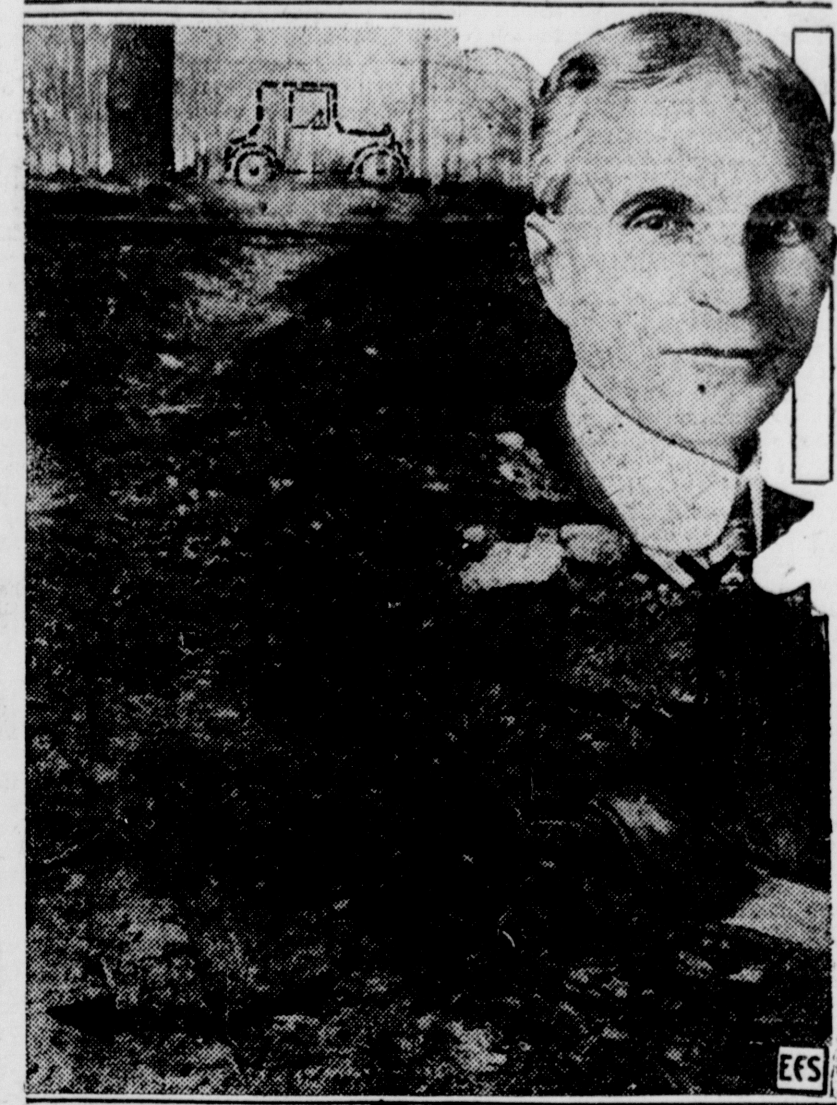

According to R. M. Lambie, leader of the crew, Rushton removed the mouthpiece of his gas helmet when 235 feet below the shaft entrance. When he collapsed, Burns and Heagy attempted to aid him, and were stricken when they neglected to keep their oxygen helmets closed.

BOAT CHANGED TO WATER IN COURT

CINCINNATI, O., Apr. 2.—John A. Jack, of Wyoming, O., near here, today was attempting to find the magic wand, or whatever it was, that changed about $4,000 worth of pre-prohibition whiskey and champagne into colored water after it had been seized by liquor raiders from the North Bend village dry court. Recently the common pleas court here held that Jack could legally keep the choice liquor. Yesterday, after getting his prize collection safely home, he sampled it, only to find that the bottles had been filled with water.

HENRY FORD CONVALESCING AT HOME

WHERE FORD FACED DEATH

FORD PROMISES TO SUBMIT TO CONSTANT GUARDS IN FUTURE

Suddenly Realizes That He Is Liable
Suddenly Realizes That He Is Liable
To Attack

DETROIT, Apr. 2.—Mrs. Henry Ford, wife of America's first billionaire, today had accomplished what her husband's associates have tried to do for several years. She has obtained a promise from the automobile magnate that he will submit to a constant secret service guard in the future, it was learned.

The promise means that Mr. Ford no longer will stroll carelessly through the gates of his Dearborn estate to walk bareheaded and unguarded through Dearborn on rainy nights. That practice has been one of the manufacturer's greatest delights.

Those days are over, so he told his wife after his first day at home from the Henry Ford Hospital.

The automobile king spent a restful night and has passed the danger mark, Dr. R. D. McClure said today.

The Ford estate last night and early today resembled the headquarters of a Napoleon. Secret agents lurked in and about the districts, watching carefully automobiles and pedestrians who approached the Michigan Ave. entrance. No one was permitted to enter without strictest search and examination. Several times in the early evening large cars rolled into the entrance only to be refused admission.

Other cars entered but did not leave. In these cars were intimate friends of the Fords, two nurses and the relief guards. No one but those intimately connected with Mr. Ford or his family was allowed to see him.

Although he is reported entirely out of danger, it is admitted that the manufacturer is in a highly nervous state from the sudden realization that he is a billionaire and world's wealthiest and most prominent citizen. His friends declare that it is the first time in

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The 1927 Gordon Bennett international balloon races will begin from Detroit, Mich., July 4, probably from the Ford airport.

The Bennett cup races were last year held in the United States in 1926 at Birmingham, Alabama.

Entries for this year's event close May 1.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

TOLEDO, O., April 2.—Fire early today destroyed the electric plant of the A. W. Reiser Company, lighting fixture manufacturers, here. Loss approximately $38,000.

DOCTORS SAY MOTOR MAGNATE MAY LEAVE HOME IN TWO WEEKS

Medical Bulletins Stopped—Guards Surround Estate

DETROIT, April 2.—Tightly strapped in splints, Henry Ford lay helpless today in an old-fashioned bed at his Dearborn palace, taking the complete rest necessary for his recovery from injuries received in a motor crash last Sunday night. A cordon of armed guards surrounded the estate.

America's first billionaire was convalescing and his physicians finally reported him out of danger. Great care, however, is being exercised to prevent the development of complications.

Officials of the Ford Motor Company meanwhile put the quietus on reports that the accident to the motor king was the result of an attempt to assassinate him. They acted at Ford's own direction, the motor king deciding that urgent steps must be taken to end the unexpected publicity that surrounded the crash.

The million dollar libel suit, which Aaron Sapiro, so-called wheat king, brought against Ford, today stood in adjournment until Monday. The motor king will appear as a witness in the trial but not until he has completely recovered. In the meantime, other witnesses will be called and on Monday, Sapiro will resume the attack to undergo further cross-examination by Senator James A. Reed, chief of Ford's counsel.

Ford probably will be able to leave his Dearborn home within two weeks unless unexpected complications develop. He needs only rest and the aid of nature to recover, according to his physicians.

An announcement issued on behalf of the doctors by one of the Ford officials, follows: "Mr. Ford's recovery is so assured that we will issue no more medical bulletins. Mr. Ford is convalescing in a perfectly normal manner, although he still suffers some pain from a sprained back and must lie perfectly still in splints and tape. All Mr. Ford must do to get well is to lie flat on his back and let nature take its course."

Ford, however, was reported to be very impatient and eager to get out into the open air and back to his desk. With the motor king one of the most restless men in the world, the big problem facing his family physicians was to keep him quiet. Mrs. Ford spent most of yesterday at his bedside, it was learned, reading to him and the auto king evidenced much interest in the newspaper accounts of his accident.

CLUBBER VICTIM IS NOW IMPROVING

CLEVELAND, O., Apr. 2.—Miss Katherine Madden, victim of a "gas pipe" clubber here Wednesday night, has a chance to recover, attendants at Mt. Sinai Hospital said today.

Police are checking several clues in an effort to capture the "clubber" and an officer is constantly on duty at Miss Madden's bedside ready to get her story of the attack and possible naming of the assailant.

The girl has been unconscious for fifty-six hours.

DRIVE ON DOGS

TOLEDO, O., Apr. 2.—As the result of one death from rabies and the serious illness of Patrolman Frank Wilson, City Welfare Director Jernan today started a vigorous campaign to eliminate stray dogs in Lucas County. Authorities believe the city is threatened with an epidemic. All dogs found running the streets have been ordered killed.

HOLMES COUNTY LEFT OUT; TO SECEDE BY HECK!

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The telegram bore the date "April 1," but it was no joke, and the Democrats of Holmes County, Ohio, are in deadly earnest about it.

Snubbed by the state legislature, which in its haste to pass a gerrymander bill, left Holmes County entirely out of any political subdivision of the state of Ohio, Holmes County Democrats retaliated last night by demanding complete independence and designation as the forty-ninth free state of the union.

The telegram, signed by Carl Schuler, mayor of Millersburg, and ten thousand other Democrats, declared in part:

"We demand that your honorable body be consistent and create out of Holmes County a free and independent state, to be known hereafter as Holmes County, America, which shall forever be the home of liberty, geographical intelligence, and Democrats."

The gerrymander bill originally included Holmes County in the seventeenth district, along with Licking, Knox, Delaware, Coshocton, Ashland and Richland counties, removing Holmes from the ex-

CONDITION OF KING FERDINAND OF RUMANIA REPORTED MORE SERIOUS; NOW HAS PLEURISY

BUCHAREST, Apr. 1.—Official bulletins issued today stated that improvement is shown in the condition of King Ferdinand, but the population seemed unwilling to accept these bulletins as authentic and the opinion is expressed everywhere that the King's death is imminent.

There have been troop concentrations in Bucharest and new troops are being brought in from the provinces.

Reports that Prince Carol had arrived at the King's bedside were denied.

VIENNA, Apr. 2.—King Ferdi-and of Rumania has developed pleurisy, which is progressing rapidly, and his death may be expected within the next forty-eight hours, according to information received here today from court circles in Bucharest.

Court Chamberlain Angelsen announced early today that the King had passed the night well and was slightly better today but admitted that the grip has now advanced to inflammation of the lungs.

The King has passed the first crisis of his illness but it is not believed that he has sufficient strength to pass the next.

Clocks Advance One Hour Sunday

Greene Countians will awake on Eastern Standard time Sunday morning.

To coincide with the Inter-State Commerce Commission ruling, Xenia and Greene County, along with virtually every city and village in the state that does not operate on Eastern time the year round, will turn its clocks ahead one hour, Sunday.

Ohio, as a state, does not officially go on Eastern time until June 6.

The difference in clocks has been the cause of more or less confusion in past years, particularly as far as travelers are concerned, and the effect of making Eastern time universal for Ohio is expected to co-ordinate transportation and all other lines of activity which are regulated by time.

In conformity with the Inter-State Commerce Commission decision, City Commission enacted an ordinance repealing the Daylight Saving time ordinance, and making Eastern time permanently effective in Xenia April 3 at 2 a. m.

Greene Countians should remember to turn their time-pieces ahead before retiring Saturday night.

ATTORNEY GEORGE SMITH MADE COMMISSIONER OF INSOLVENTS

Probate Judge Wright Makes Appointment On
Request—Move May Be Forerunner Of Release Of Liquor Prisoners

Appointment as commissioner of insolvents for Greene County for a three-year term has been tendered to Attorney George H. Smith, this city, by Probate Judge S. C. Wright.

Attorney Smith has accepted, but the formal appointment will not be made until early next week, according to Judge Wright.

The appointee will be required to furnish $1,000 bond. The appointment will become effective on the date the attorney qualifies for the position by supplying bond.

The commissioner will have no regular remuneration but will be paid on a basis of small fees in individual cases. It is not certain whether he will have jurisdiction over felony as well as misdemeanor cases.

The appointment opens the way for at least five persons now serving sentences in the County Jail in default of payment of fines and costs for violation of the prohibition laws, to probably gain immediate release under the indigent debtor law, as a result of the recent decision of the State Supreme Court.

The decision, in effect, holds that to imprison a man for non-payment of a fine is in fact imprisonment for debt in violation of the constitutional provisions, if the prisoner is insolvent and unable to pay the fine.

Under the insolvent debtor's law prisoners cannot be held longer than sixty days in jail.

Attorney Frank L. Johnson made application to Probate Court for appointment of a commissioner of insolvents, and expects to file applications for release of five prisoners in the County Jail, who are said to be insolvent and have served more than sixty days for failure to pay fines.

The prisoners will be required to appear before an insolvency commissioner and affirm their financial state by listing their liabilities and assets. After obtaining a certificate of insolvency, they will appear in Probate Court and ask release on it. It will devolve upon Judge Wright to rule on each individual case, either refusing freedom or authorizing their immediate release from jail.

CASHIER PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

CELINA, O., Apr. 2.—H. J. Reichert, former cashier of the Burkettsville Bank, this county, who was indicted by the grand jury for fraudulently issuing certificates of deposit of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Burkettsville, came into court and changed his former plea of not guilty to guilty. Judge H. A. Miller sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary.

CITIES FIGHTING GAS RATE INCREASE SUBMIT COMPROMISE PROPOSALS

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—With two alternate proposals in the hands of counsel and officials of the Logan Gas Company for settlement of the gas rate controversy with municipalities served by that concern, city solicitors of the affected cities today were awaiting a decision by the utility concern, with but little hope, it was said, that a compromise would be effected.

The solicitors, after conferring virtually all day here yesterday, submitted proposals that:

1.—The company agrees to furnish gas on a basis of a fifty-five cent rate schedule for two years, and refund all amounts collected from consumers pending the litigation in excess of that rate.

2.—That the gas company agree to a fifty-five cent rate for four years, with no refund.

SUPREME COURT HAS BLOCKED EFFORT TO SEE PAT M'DERMOTT

Mills Again Denied Right
Pending Writ Of Error

COLUMBUS, O., April 2.—The conference of E. L. Mills, Canton attorney, with his client, Patrick McDermott, convicted slayer of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, was again postponed today, as a result of the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court late yesterday afternoon.

Mills is seeking a court order directing Warden P. E. Thomas, of the Ohio State penitentiary, where McDermott is serving a life sentence, to permit the lawyers to confer with McDermott, who has an appeal pending, in private at the prison. Warden Thomas has refused on the ground that after a prisoner is convicted and sent to his institution, the matter of conferences with attorneys or other persons is wholly within the jurisdiction of the warden.

The court of appeals here agreed with Mills' contention and ordered the warden to permit the private conference between Mills and McDermott, but under agreement of counsel, serving of the order was delayed until yesterday, pending a motion for an appeal to the supreme court. The latter tribunal, after hearing arguments yesterday, decided to hear an application for a writ of error, filed by the state attorney general in behalf of the warden, and issued an order temporarily suspending the serving of the court of appeals' order on Warden Thomas, pending a final decision.

CANTONESE LEADER CLAIMS DISORDERS DUE TO "RUFFIANS"

Voices Protest Over
Bombardment By
Foreign Ships

SHANGHAI, April 2.—Eugene Chen, foreign minister in the Cantonese government, in a statement made public today accused "reactionary and counter revolutionary elements and local ruffians" of responsibility for the foreign outbreak at Nanking.

The statement, which was issued at Hankow present seat of the liberal government, under date of March 31, says in part:

"A commission of inquiry investigating the late events at Nanking has set in a preliminary report establishing the outstanding fact that the disorders were the work of reactionary and counter revolutionary elements, who, during the confused conditions following the defeat of the northern rebels and their white Russian mercenaries, instigated the rebel remnants—many of whom were uniforms taken from nationalist soldiers who had previously been captured—and local ruffians to attack and loot foreigners in the city."

"The British, American and Japanese consulates were attacked and a few foreign lives unfortunately lost and some foreign property was looted before order could be fully restored by nationalists under Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, who entered Nanking on March 24 at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The latter ordered the execution of many of those who had attacked foreigners."

"From four to six foreigners are reported to have been killed and about six wounded during these disturbances at Nanking."

"On the other hand, the estimate which is under verification places the Chinese casualties, as a result of the British and American naval bombardment, at a rate of more than 100 killed and wounded for every single foreign casualty."

"While the nationalist government will have to denounce the attack upon the British and other consulates at Nanking, and express deep regret for the foreign lives lost and the wounding of the British consul general and other foreigners, they (the nationalist government) have got to protest against the bombardment of Nanking with its large civilian population by British and American gunboats."

The unburned foreign buildings at Nanking, excepting the Standard Oil Company (of New York), and the Texas Company offices have been occupied by nationalist troops.

The foreign authorities report that the nationalists have not punished the soldiers at Nanking for recent outrages and are endeavoring to maintain the contention that local rowdies were responsible.

It is true, however, that a number of civilian mob leaders were executed by the Cantonese.

Foreigners and troops in Kiangsu province, and throughout the northern part of the province have been ordered by Gen. Chang Sung Chang to evacuate immediately. In giving the order Gen. Chang announced that he intended to fight the nationalists in that region "to the finish."

TOLEDO, O., April 2.—While funeral services for Robert E. Wilson, 17, are being held here today, police continue attempts to ascertain how the youth came to his death.

Authorities are inclined to the belief that the boy was strangled to death, his throat cut by some sharp instrument and the body then carried to the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad track where it was found.

Sandusky officials state the boy's neck was broken. Deep cuts were found across the back of the neck and on the hands.

Absence of marks on the body, police said, indicates the boy was not hit by a train as was at first supposed. A pool of blood was also found fifty feet from the body.

BIBLE THOUGHT

Whoso mocketh the poor reproacheth his Maker; and he that is glad at calamities shall not be unpunished.—Proverbs 17:5.

CHILDREN TAUGHT WRONG

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt struck a suggestive note in an after-dinner talk at the recent housekeeping conference in Washington. Among "Portia's" duties as assistant attorney general of the United States at the Department of Justice is supervision of national prison affairs. "In the course of watching the parade of about 400,000 men and women who annually emerge from prison all over the United States," Mrs. Willebrandt said, "I think I have come to one interesting and fundamental conclusion. That is, that in innumerable cases these delinquents have to thank for their misfortunes the fact that in youth or childhood they had inculcated in them a wholly wrong conception of law. Too many of them were taught that law is a medium of restraint, instead of what it is—an opportunity for enlarged liberty."

WET ONLY ON THE WEST EDGE

The next day after the last election when the votes were counted and the politicians began to point with pride and in other ways at the results, the wet forces of the country sent up a great cheer declaring that three or four states, including California, had voted wet. They had it all doped out that these states had repudiated the dry laws and that it was the sacred will of the people that every one should have all the booze wanted without restraint or something to that effect. Just how they figured all this out the wets never made clear.

However, the California legislature now comes along and makes it clear in a most emphatic way that that state is as dry as the best of them.

In a recent editorial the Los Angeles Evening Express says:

"Adoption by the state Senate of the Jones bill, which makes possession of a still for illegal manufacture of intoxicating liquor a felony, the first test of wet and dry strength in the Forty-seventh Legislature, proved a sweeping victory for the dries, and an emphatic denial of the claim of wets that California if left free to express its true sentiment would be found against prohibition. The bill was carried by a vote of better than three to one, yet it was one to which a senator who was not in full sympathy with prohibition might consistently object, because of its drastic provisions, and run no risk of giving offense to a constituency which might be balanced between wet and dryness. There was no compulsion. The vote was a free and untrammelled expression of the will of the people of the state, as interpreted by their elected representatives in the state Senate, and it was 28 for the bill to only nine against, and of the nine seven represented San Francisco senatorial districts.

"It is felt after its victory in the Senate that the bill certainly will be passed by the Assembly, and become law through approval by the governor. Nothing so important and helpful to law enforcement has been done in this state since enactment of the Wright prohibition enforcement law."

PAYING FOR PAST VACATIONS

It is reported that some of the touring agencies are offering European trips for next summer on the installment plan. The traveler pays half the cost of his trip at the start and the other half in ten monthly payments after his return.

It is possible that the agencies will make money on the system and that many of the installment plan tourists will eventually pay in full for their trips. But one wonders how the agencies will get back their tours in case of defaulted payments.

Paying for one's vacation after it is all over, however pleasant memories of it may be, certainly appears to be unusually difficult. It would be much more practical to make these monthly payments into a Thrift Fund or a savings account for ten months in advance of the trip than to the agency for ten months after it's over.

Installment buying is the popular form of purchasing today, and some experts declare it has done much to stabilize industry and contribute to steady prosperity.

Whether it can successfully be applied to vacations and travel is a question, which probably will be watched with great interest by the public.

Now that a Kansas judge has ruled that a husband needn't listen to his wife's conversation, there ought to be a ruling on whether a wife must endure her husband's silence.

KICK IN HANDSHAKE

Dr. William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, never holds a handshaking bee on occasions of his periodical appearances away from Washington without letting people know that they've met him. He has a grip of steel, a habit inherited from cowboy days in Idaho and his years at the plow-handle.

Senator Nye, of North Dakota, thinks it was United States Marshal Gunwaldsen's "car-copier" handshake that put President Coolidge's right wrist out of commission the other day. But the President often has occasion to see Secretary Jardine, so the cause of the executive bandage may have lain nearer home.

When Mere Man Has the Last Word

Keeping HEALTHY
by Dr. A. F. Currier

URIC ACID CONDITION

Miss C: Will you kindly publish an article on uric acid condition of the stomach or the uric acid condition which seems to be my trouble? I have no rheumatism, but granulation of the eyelids, fever blisters on my mouth most of the time, feel the cold very much in winter, have constipation, coated tongue, bad taste in the mouth, etc. In spite of strict abstinence from red meats, tomatoes, acid fruits and vinegar, and the free use of cathartics.

Answer—The uric acid condition is a perverse and obstinate one and, as in your case, often visits those who have lived a perfectly abstemious and correct life and seemingly overlooks others who have recklessly disregarded the laws of health. But that would not justify you nor me in disregarding sanitary precautions and throwing scientific rules overboard. We are surely safer, as a rule, in being particular about our habits and modes of living, as you have apparently been, and as I hope will continue to be.

An eminent physician and dietitian of New York, Professor Porter, says that uric acid results from the chemical changes which take place in the albuminoid foods—fish, meat, milk and eggs principally; but that it is never found in these foods nor appears anywhere during the digestive process, nor in the blood under normal conditions, but is manufactured only in the cells of the kidneys and is a waste or final product of food changes.

It is discharged with the urine, and when there is too much of it oxidation is not going on properly in the body.

When oxidation proceeds as it should, uric acid combines with other substances in the kidneys or bladder and is discharged from the body as such compounds.

One of these compounds, for example, is sodium urate, which is formed by combination of uric acid with sodium chloride (table salt) which circulates in solution in the blood.

Too much uric acid also means improper chemical changes in the albuminoid food, and that the uric acid has produced disease. The tendency to excessive formation of uric acid is common in middle life and old age. It may come from worry and want of sleep, over exertion, improper diet, and free use of wine or beer. It is seen in such diseases as rheumatism, gout, joint diseases and various forms of indigestion. It may lead to the formation of hard stones in the kidneys or bladder.

der, which amre very much more troublesome than those which are soft and easily broken.

It may be absorbed from the kidneys into the blood and deposited in the joints or other tissues.

When it is present or suspected, the bowels and kidneys must be kept moving freely, water and milk drunk in abundance and simple, laxative food eaten, such as bran, oils, prunes, figs and baked apples. Albuminoid foods must be eaten sparingly, especially meat, fish and eggs.

As these substances are responsible for uric acid, the less they are eaten, the less, as a rule, will there be of uric acid.

Snakeskin in Favor

Reptilian hides are the rage, according to fashion experts all over the world. Here is a costly spring coat made from imported python skins, trimmed with suede leather and lined with two shades of satin. Don't tell the wife!

EAGLES WILL HOLD
ANNUAL CARNIVAL

Annual spring festival sponsored by Xenia Aerle, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at the Aerle hall the week of April 16 to April 23, inclusive, it is announced.

Seven gala evenings of exceptional entertainment are promised, for variety is to be a feature of the festival.

Prizes will be awarded with a large prize given away the first night.

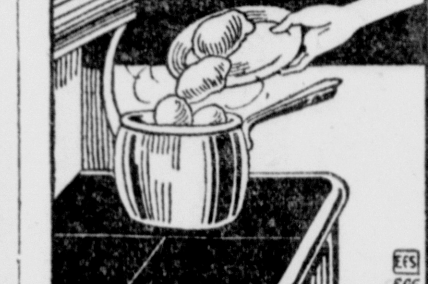

Dancing will be supplied free every night with the band-making furnished by the Midnight Sun orchestra, formerly the Harmony Kings, under the direction of Clarence Jeffries.

Maintaining his stand of being innocent of the theft of sixty chickens from two New Burlington residents a week ago, Lewis Brittingham, 47, pleaded not guilty to larceny before R. O. Copey, justice of the peace, Friday.

Because of the inability of Prosecutor J. C. Marshall to agree on a definite date for the trial, it is uncertain when the hearing will be held, except that it is set for sometime during the week beginning April 10.

Brittingham's bond was fixed at $600.

KELLYGRAMS by FRED C. KELLY

OUR WASTE OF WORDS

I wish some patient, painstaking fellow with nothing else to do, would figure out how much paper and ink is wasted by the average person in writing down useless words.

I once started to save all the letters I received in a week and count the needless-long words. But the list grew so long that the job of tabulating the words became a nuisance.

I found that most people say "the sum of $10" when they mean $10. Here are a few more such phrases in common use, and their equivalents:

Extend an invitation—invite.

Take into consideration—consider.

Enough so that it will do—enough to do.

The purchase of—buy.

A large number of—many.

A majority of—most.

Due to the fact that—because.

The city of New York—New York.

In a prudent manner—prudently.

Put in an appearance—appear.

It is often the case that men fall—men often fall.

We say employ when we mean use; gratis for free; donation for gift; reside for live; numerous for many. Most firms have purchasing agents instead of buyers.

Many writers still drag in Latin phrases, such as per annum, for yearly.

Lawyers and business men are, perhaps, the worst offenders in this respect. Like the colored folks, they revel in high-sounding words. Lawyers may do it intentionally to obscure facts; but business men are blindly following custom.

A supreme court judge recently told a lawyer that his thirty-six page brief could have better been put in thirty-six lines. All the rest, he said, were mere rigmarole.

A businessman accepting an invitation, once wrote:

"Your esteemed favor of the 13th instant to hand and contents noted, and in reply to same I beg to state that it will be a great pleasure to accept your kind invitation for next Friday evening."

Why couldn't he have said simply, "I'll be glad to come."

Quiller-Couch, in one of his books, quotes a man who wrote this: "I was indifferent as to the results of the game, caring not whether I made gains or suffered losses." He comments that all the man needed to say was: "I didn't care whether I won or lost."

Some years ago the following advertisement of a certain soap was prepared and submitted to the head of the business:

"The alkaline element and vegetable fats in this product are blended in such a way as to secure the highest quality of saponification, along with a specific gravity that keeps it on top of the water, relieving the bather of the trouble and so tempting and alluringly arrayed in the shops everywhere at this time.

Yesterday I talked about giving the skin a good thorough going over, and suggested that if possible my readers undergo a course of beauty treatments at the hands of a specialist. However, if this is not possible I told them to concentrate personal effort in home attention and today I want to say a few words on spring make-up.

In connection with this, here again color plays an important part. The make-up you should affect depends first upon the coloring of your hair, eyes and the tone of your natural skin texture. Secondly, the colors you most often wear are affected most intimately by it. And thirdly, the shape and contour of your face are deeply involved as well.

In spring your make-up should take on a more natural effect. It must be more subtly and carefully applied so that it blends with the natural things with which you come in contact. In spring you are out of doors more; your activities are more athletic than in winter and so your make-up must not be quite so vivid—it must be slightly toned down to be in keeping with your sports clothes and your sports activities.

You will, therefore, need to select a new supply of cosmetics for the spring season. A softer tone of rouge, a slightly darker tone of powder than usual, and a lipstick that will blend with your rouge must be a part of your spring beauty kit. Your make-up must be applied to give the effect of a more studied carelessness in spring and summer than at other times of the year.

Don't use too much make-up, especially you women over 40. Your make-up should be very much more subtle than that of your younger sister. A young skin can "get away with" an extravagance of make-up not possible for the more mature. For the first essential of what might be called a good make-up is the smoothness or the foundation under it, and of course a fresh lovely skin, forms an ideal foundation for make-up.

There is something about these bright, lovely, pre-Easter days that makes every woman want to take on loveliness. Freshness, brightness, sunshine, is in the very air—the joy of selecting new spring costumes seems to enter one's very blood. And as I said yesterday, in order to set off the new spring outfit, to the best possible advantage, one must put one's body and complexion in the best possible condition so as to make a proper background or setting for the lovely new fashions which are so tempting and alluringly arrayed in the shops everywhere at this time.

Sweden's coffee cake goes straight to the masculine heart, and is recommended to the hostess for a "company" breakfast.

SWEDISH COFFEE CAKE

Beat to a cream one-half cup of butter and gradually beat into this one-half cup of sugar. Add two beaten eggs. Stir two and one-fourth cups of flour with two teaspoons of baking powder, and add this to the creamed butter, etc., alternately with one-half cup of milk. Mix with the batter one-half cup of raisins, seeded, or a mixture of raisins and chopped nuts. Pour into the coffee cake pan, which is about 15x10 or 11 inches and one inch deep, and bake for twenty minutes at 375 degrees F. After the batter is poured into the pan the top is covered with the yolk of one egg, spooned over its surface. Granulated sugar enough to cover is sifted over and one-fourth to one-half cup of chopped almonds are sprinkled over all. When done cut in chunks and serve hot with butter.

annoyance of fishing around for it at the bottom during his ablutions." The story is that the boss, being a man of shrewdness and common sense, reduced all this to the simple words: "It floats."

Little Old New York

NEW YORK, April 2.—The New York papers carried a piece the other day by Henry Ford's friend, Arnold Bennett, saying that the twelve greatest novels were written by four Russians whose names it wouldn't do any good to print here because you couldn't pronounce them, anyway.

Arnold Bennett, having written a couple of good novels himself, the article might have carried some weight if the editor hadn't made the mistake of printing the Worthy Brother's picture. I took my first look at Mr. Bennett and then I laughed out loud, because I realized at once that Dickens, Thackeray, Bertha M. Clay and other Old Masters and Mistresses were safe.

Authors make a mistake letting editors run their pictures, when you read something particularly striking, powerful or pungent and then get a squint at the lad who wrote it—looking as if he couldn't stay on a merry-go-round without the aid of a clothes pin, it sort of shakes your faith in the proportions.

Arnold Bennett looks exactly like a picture I saw one time in an Arizona paper, of a gentleman in a patent medicine ad who invited the general public out to his place on the desert to view the little bungalow he had constructed entirely of gall stones.

Thomas Gonapoulos is a conscientious, hard-working young Broadway kitchen man. His weekly stipend is not large, but Thomas operates on the principle that devotion to duty, a clean conscience and a good appetite will carry anyone to success.

The other day he was handed a large box of silver polish, a bundle of rags, several small brushes and a mountain of silver knives and forks.

"Polish 'em," said the restaurant owner. "Shine 'em up till they gladden like a chorus girl's nose in the morning."

Gonapoulos rolled the sleeves of his green-orange-red-and-blue striped shirt high on his muscular Greek arms and fell to with a will. He scoured, scrubbed, rubbed and brushed, not even halting for mid-day sustenance.

When the 1 o'clock whistles sounded above the roar of the Big police sauntered up and directed a series of insinuating questions, most trying to a soul as sensitive as that of Thomas Gonapoulos. He tried to explain that the knives represented a detail of conscientious endeavor.

"It's home work," he explained later to the magistrate.

"We call it petty larceny down here," replied the judge.

Moral: Science has yet to unearth a substitute for discretion.

POMONA GRANGE BROADCASTS PROGRAM

Through a make believe radio station, a program was broadcast featuring a meeting of the Pomona Grange at the Knights of Pythias Hall here Wednesday. The Grange held a business meeting in the forenoon, and after dinner, the opening of the broadcasting program was announced in an original poem read by Mrs. St. John, the Grange lecturer.

Mr. Harry Hagler was in charge of the station and announced the program through a microphone. Imitating the Little Symphony Orchestra, New York, the Grange Orchestra opened the program with two numbers. Little Ellen Huston, of Jamestown, played a piano solo, showing unusual talent for such a young child. The Eskimos, well known broadcasters from a New York station, were represented by Susan Fudge and Dale Ritenour, who were dressed in furs and wrapped in deer skin.

Mr. Christopher Huffman, of Caesar Creek Grange, an "old time fiddler from Louisville, Ky.," rendered selections on his violin.

The "A. and P. Gypsies," introduced and rendered some real music on the violin and piano. This trio consisted of Mrs. Ray Fudge, Mrs. Erle Hutchison and Miss Lucile Ireland.

Prof. Sayre's "Little Family Orchestra," from Beaver Creek Township, played two numbers which were greatly enjoyed. As a Scootch entertainer, Miss Catherine Van Pelt, of Spring Valley Grange, sang "Annie Laurie" and "Comin' Thru' the Rye." She was attractively costumed and dramatized the songs.

"Goldie and Dusty," radio stars, were represented by Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Thomas, of Xenia Grange. In black and white costumes, they entertained with song features and jokes.

Xenia Orchestra, performed as the "Night Hawks" giving the final numbers on the program. For this feature special scenery was arranged, an electrical moon shining through green branches, and a huge hawk in the background.

Pomona Grange will hold its next meeting at Spring Valley, May 25, when a program will be put on by members of the juvenile grange.

XENIA W. C. T. U. HOLDS MEETING.

Notwithstanding April showers thirty-six members and friends of "Xenia" W. C. T. U. gathered at the home of Mrs. John Dymond, Washington St., Friday afternoon.

The devotions were opened by a sacred number sung by the Misses Mary and Eva Dakin, followed by Scripture reading and prayer by a number of those present.

Mrs. Lester Oglesbee, director of Christian citizenship for the county, told of some of the duties performed by herself and others, to which they had been appointed by the W. C. T. U. She also gave an interesting review of the Union Signal, calling attention to the excellence of the paper.

Miss Mary Ervin, national president of young people's work, gave an account of her trip in the South, also of her experiences in Washington, D. C., having spent several weeks there on her way home.

She attended a session of congress and the W. C. T. U. convention.

Little Emily Jean Powers, granddaughter of the hostess, gave two recitations, one of them having been composed by herself.

The Misses Dakin favored with another duet.

Delicious refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

"ALL UPSET" IS APRIL FOOL PARTY

Everything was turned around at the "April Fool" party given by members of Mr. R. E. Bryson's Sunday School class of the Second United Presbyterian Church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wagner, N. Detroit St., Friday evening.

Pictures were turned face to the wall, April fool messages greeted the visitors from the mirrors, and the decorations were of a holiday nature and had other features of a bygone period.

April Fool stunts and contests were held and the evening closed with a "dinner" of corned beef and cabbage. The table was decorated to carry out the general idea of the evening.

The hosts and hostesses with Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, were: Mr. and Mrs. William Billmyre, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bickett, Dr. H. B. McElree, pastor of the church and Mrs. McElree, Superintendent J. H. Nagley of the Sunday School and Mrs. Nagley were the guests of the class for the evening. Mr. Guy Hutslar, president of the class, presided at a short business meeting, when the new calendar for the year was presented. Mr. Fred Williams was in charge of the devotional. Forty-five persons enjoyed the evening.

BIRTHDAY OCCASION FOR DINNER PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Adams, E. Second St., was the scene of a merry party Thursday evening when their five children with their families gathered for the purpose of celebrating the anniversary of Mr. Adams' birth. It was arranged as a surprise to Mr. Adams, and the company brought baskets filled with food for a delicious repast.

After supper a social time was spent until late. Mr. Adams was showered with felicitations upon his birth anniversary.

Those who enjoyed the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Adams were: Mr. and Mrs. Arch Persinger of near Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cline and children, Geneva and Virgil of Bowersville; Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams and children; Robert, Helen and Earl, of Bowersville; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pickering and children of New Jasper; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Adams of Bowersville.

LAL BASH SOCIETY TO MEET MONDAY EVE

China, now the leading topic in international affairs, will be the subject to be studied at a meeting of Lal Bash missionary society of Trinity M. E. Church at the home of Mrs. Frank Bickett, W. Church St., Monday night. Mrs. George Eckler and Mrs. J. J. Stout will read the papers, the former on "Women of China, Yesterday and Today," and the latter on the topic "History and Political and Economic Situation in China." A general discussion will follow the reading of both papers.

The occasion will also be the annual talk offering meeting of the society. Mrs. B. F. Thomas is the group leader. Hostesses with Mrs. Bickett will be Mrs. Ernest Beatty, Mrs. George Eckler, Mrs. J. O. McCormick and Mrs. A. N. Spahr.

RURAL HOME CLUB HAS COMMUNITY MEET

One hundred persons attended a meeting of the Rural Home Community Club at the Rural Home school, west of Xenia, Friday night. An interesting program featured the meeting, including a talk by Prof. D. H. Barnes, a group of readings by Miss Mildred Mason and musical numbers by the Beaver Creek High School Orchestra.

An indoor circus followed the program, side shows and other typical circus features furnishing much amusement. Circus refreshments, sandwiches, ice cream, popcorn and coffee were sold. The occasion afforded much merriment, and credit was extended to Mrs. Mildred Watkins, teacher of the Rural Home school, for arranging the entertainment.

COMMUNITY CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

An Easter bonnet making contest and a spring flower making contest featured the meeting of the Goes Community Club at the home of Mrs. W. B. Bryson on the Clifton Pike, Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Cowden succeeded in turning out the most presentable bonnet, and Mrs. C. B. Bone made the best looking flower. Both were present of prizes. Easter decorations were used and the refreshment course followed the same idea. Twenty guests were received.

AID SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Jacob Baldwin received twenty-four members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church at her home on W. Third St., Friday afternoon. Reading the annual reports of the officers, and arranging plans for the congregational meeting to be held April 13, were features of the program. A refreshment course was served by Mrs. Baldwin, and the assistant hostesses, Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. R. C. West and Mrs. O. A. Spahr.

HOUSE PARTY GUESTS HAVE REUNION

Xenia young folks who comprised a house party that was entertained at the home of Mrs. Kennon Dunham in Cincinnati last summer, will have a reunion at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Shields, E. Second St., Saturday evening, several of the young men and women who were in the group being home from college for the spring vacation. Those whom Mrs. Shields expects to gather for the reunion are: the Misses Mary, Barbara and Helen Little, Josephine Wolf, Margaret Kelly, Florence Chew, and Messrs. Thur and Donald Currie, Fred, Edward and Henry Flynn, John Little and Horace Smith.

CARD CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Ed Smith was hostess to her card club at her home, 206 S. King St., Friday evening. Forty tables of 500 were in play, and the high score winners for the evening were Mrs. Roy Bayliff and Mrs. Henry Buckles. A refreshment course was served after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Conwell and their daughter, Sarah Madge, and Miss Jean Fauber of Washington C. H., were entertained Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Conwell, of Chestnut St. The occasion was the birthday anniversary of both Mrs. H. E. Conwell and Mrs. C. E. Conwell. The party motored to Dayton Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Forest Dunkle is recovering from the effects of a tonsilectomy which she underwent Friday.

Mrs. Harry Wright and three children, of Cedarville went to Seaman, O., Saturday to spend two weeks with Mrs. Wright's parents. Mr. Wright motored to Seaman with his family but will return Sunday evening.

Mr. William Finlay returned Saturday from Miami, Fla., where he spent the last five months, and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Finlay, Chestnut St. Mr. Finlay has been employed as service man for the Frigidair department of the Delco at Miami. He does not know whether he will be returned to the southern territory by the concern.

Judge Marcus Shoup, accompanied by Mrs. Shoup, is expected to return home Monday from Cleveland where he underwent a serious operation for inward goitre, at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital. Judge Shoup has been discharged from the hospital and is at a hotel where he has been under observation for several days by the surgeons.

Mr. R. S. Kingsbury has returned to Rochester, Minn., where he enters the Mayo Clinic to resume treatments for trouble which developed some time ago as the result of an old injury to his left leg. Mr. Kingsbury spent some time at Rochester where the treatments improved his condition and upon the advice of physicians he returned to Xenia and submitted to a tonsilectomy. He has recuperated after the operation, and started Wednesday night for Rochester.

Members of Shawnee Encampment, No. 20, I. O. O. F., are asked to be present at a meeting Monday evening to prepare for the trip to Dayton being planned.

Smoker and light refreshments will follow the conferring of the Royal and Select Masters Degree on a class of two candidates at a meeting of Wright Council, No. 96, R. and S. M., Monday night at the Masonic Temple, instead of the banquet as previously announced.

Mrs. H. S. LeSourd and her children, Miss Helen, and Richard, started Saturday morning on a motoring trip to New York. The party stopped at Zanesville for Mr. William LeSourd, who will accompany them on the trip, which is being made during the spring school vacation.

The Orient Hill Parent-Teacher Association will hold its regular meeting Monday afternoon at 3:15 at the school building.

Mr. Rolly Shaw is confined to his home on W. Second St., suffering from a severe attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Arbogast motored to Cincinnati Saturday to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. David Davies, formerly of this city. Mrs. H. L. Sayre, who has been visiting relatives in Cincinnati for a few days, will accompany them home Monday.

Mrs. S. C. Wright, S. Detroit St., returned Friday evening from Idaville, Ind., where she spent some time with her mother, Mrs. John Johnsonbaugh, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wiseman, 111 S. Whiteman St., are announcing the birth of a son, William Joseph, Thursday night.

Mrs. Jane Bell will be the guest for the week end of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Carder, in Dayton.

Mrs. Raymond Osborn, of 18 Vine St., is recuperating nicely after undergoing a serious operation at the McClellan Hospital Friday morning.

By the time, George Swartz, able Court House custodian, has contracted to move the ponderous point, or that reckons time in the Court House tower, it is estimated that every hour hand in the county will have been guided into its new position for the race which will be from now on.

Absent-minded citizens who retire Saturday night without adjusting their time-pieces may walk to find their friends coming home. Laxer souls who remain at home may tune in on the radio church services in time to hear the lunch concert. Homeless citizens may meet the noon restaurant crowd coming out and wake up to find that the rest got all the gravy. Without being exactly brutal, it might be said that rebellious citizens, who refuse to advance their clocks out of spite, may wake up to hear the large majority singing "They're all out of step, but you."

Forgetful citizens, inspired by the continued daylight, may work later Monday evening and come home to cold and discomfort, not to mention lackadaisical dinners. But golf fans, being neither absent-minded, lazy, homeless, rebellious or forgetful, will swing clubs about potent shoulders and ankle merrily over the greensward, rejoicing in the extra daylight that is theirs to play in.

Altogether the change imposed by the commission order which will soon become a law of Ohio, imposes slight obligation on all the well-known human beings, compared with the so-called dumber animals, if any.

The browsing bovine, gently masticating the juicy thistle, may forget to come home to be milked. The lowly porker, wallowing in the mire of forgetfulness may miss his usual portion of choice slop. The anxious hen, obligated to pre-empt duties in which the fake reputation of an impotent rabbit must be sustained, may find herself exhausted at the end of a day so long that it naturally calls for two eggs. And the long-suffering horse may lose her beauty sleep while pulling a plow for a man who takes advantage of the long evenings.

All of these barnyard potentialities may adjust themselves however, before the sweltering midday at 1 o'clock instead of 12. In the meantime it is largely a matter of turning everything ahead except the gas meter. Altogether now, a let's turn.

HE CELEBRATES

CHIEF GRAHAM

April 1 had an altogether different meaning for Police Chief M. E. Graham.

The chief celebrated Friday the eighth anniversary of his appointment as head of the Xenia Police Department.

He entered upon his duties as chief April 1, 1920 and has served continuously as a member of the department since June 1907, twenty years ago.

FATHER TIME WILL CHARLESTON OUT OF STEP SUNDAY

Who Wants To Wake Up At 2 a. m. to Move Clock?

Time, an ancient gentleman with a fur-bearing chin, an obsolete scythe and suffering badly from fallen arches, will show Greene Countians what a set of monkey glands can do if they lie awake until 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

The old gentleman, consistently maligned by reports that he speeds by on golden wings, whereas ample callouses indicate his usual form of locomotion, is going to put on the fastest show on record for the benefit of western Ohioans Sunday morning.

The show will consume an hour but will not last more than a second or two, paradoxically speaking. In other words old Father Time, all pepped up with youth glands inserted by that able surgeon, the Interstate Commerce Commission, is going to Charleston out of his usual shuffle just to prove how lightning fast he is.

More than 30,000 Greene Countians who will assist in the program, will suddenly see this feeble character jump from 2 o'clock to 3 o'clock, a mere span of sixty minutes or 3,600 hundred seconds, in the record breaking time of nothing flat. And he will not make this leap on golden wings but on little brass wheels, imitation jewels and smart hunting cases and Big Bens that adorn Greene Countians' mantle-pieces, vest pockets and hilly-white wrists.

By the time, George Swartz, able Court House custodian, has contracted to move the ponderous point, or that reckons time in the Court House tower, it is estimated that every hour hand in the county will have been guided into its new position for the race which will be from now on.

INSTANTANEOUS SOCIAL SUCCESS

One of the belles of the diplomatic set in Washington now is Mlle. Nereine Claudel, daughter of the new French ambassador, Paul Claudel. She became popular instantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Mills, who have been spending the last six months in Xenia and Dayton, while Mr. Mills was taking special work at the N. C. R. plant in Dayton, started Friday night for their home in San Francisco, where Mr. Mills is a representative of the Dayton company. They expect to stop at Grand Canyon and Los Angeles and take about two weeks for the journey. They have been with Mrs. Mills' mother, Mrs. W. A. Labron, E. Market St., during their stay here.

A number of Xenia girls, students at Miami University, Oxford, have arrived at their homes here to spend the spring vacation next week. Miss Virginia Heathman came home Friday and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.

OLDSMOBILE SHOWS TEN BODY MODELS; ALL SNAPPY STYLES

Ten body types comprise the line of Oldsmobiles sold here by Grover Bales. These include sedans, landau, coupes, roadster, and two newly designed tourings with rigid side curtains that can be used with the top either up or down.

These various body types are all mounted on the Oldsmobile chassis equipped with the many developments of the past year, including the new type four-wheel brakes, and 5.25 balloon tires announced by Oldsmobile.

Mohair upholstery is used on all closed body types, while genuine leather is used on open cars. All cars are finished in two and three colors of Duco.

High grade rugs and rubber mats are used on the floors. The interior fittings are satin nickel. Combination match and ash receptacles are set in the back of the front seat in the sedan and landau models and on the right side of the body of coach models.

ASKS DAMAGES

Suit for $1,500 damages has been filed in the Montgomery County Common Pleas Court by Elmer E. Lehman, 506 Keith Building, Dayton, against Daniel Myor, 55 S. June St., Dayton, for alleged failure to comply with an agreement to trade farms in Greene and Clark Counties.

Just as the trade was about to be completed, Myor sold his farm to another party, Lehman charges.

HE SAID THAT HE COULD AND HE DID IT

Major H. O. D. Segrave brought his weird Mystery-S car to this country declaring he would make 200 miles an hour in it on the Daytona Beach sand track. On second attempt, he set mark for all time of 203.7928 miles per hour, officially timed, which is 27 miles an hour better than previous world record, and 47 miles better than America's fastest. Picture shows record-breaking car and driver.

FORD AFFORDS WIRE WHEELS FOR COUPES WITHOUT NEW PRICE

Ford coupes were added to the list of models on which Ford wire wheels are furnished as standard equipment, at no extra cost, February 21.

This standardizes wire wheels on all enclosed models at no extra cost—equivalent of a price reduction of $30—and has been welcomed by the entire organization. It has given them an opportunity to satisfy a preference which has long existed in the minds of a great many buyers for wire wheels rather than the usual wood type wheels.

Ford one-piece wire wheels are the only wheels of their type. They contain 110 less pieces than other wire wheels of the same size and are stronger than wood wheels.

PAIGE FOUR-SPEED TRANSMISSION HAS ADDED POPULARITY

Motorists in regions where hills are hills will be especially enthusiastic users of the newly developed four-speed transmission with two high gear drives, introduced with the Paige eight, according to Henry Krohn, vice president of the Paige-Detroit Company, who has just completed a trip across the Rockies and along the Pacific coast.

Krohn timed his western trip so as to visit the Los Angeles automobile show, being eager to learn of the public's reaction to the new eight. He was more than pleased with its acceptance.

"The four-speed trend, which is bound to follow the introduction of the new transmission by the Paige," said Krohn, "will work an extraordinary improvement in driving under any conditions."

EAST END NEWS

There will be a social at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Scott, 31 Jefferson St., Saturday night.

Queen Ann Temple, S. M. T., met Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the K. of P. Hall, E. Main St. The organization was perfected at this time. Refreshments were served.

Miss Helen Ferguson was presented in a recital at the East High School Auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock with Prof. Sykes at the piano, Mr. Robert Scales, violinist and Miss Dorothy Brown, danseuse. This recital was given under the auspices of St. John's A. M. E. Church.

Mrs. R. E. Hutchinson, E. Church St., still continues ill at her home.

Mr. Sam Wilkerson, of Washington C. H., Ohio, is the guest of friends for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anderson, E. Second St. announce the arrival of a little son.

Mrs. Maggie Lytle, of Cincinnati, was a business visitor here this week.

Mrs. Mary Thornton, of E. Second St., is among the sick this week.

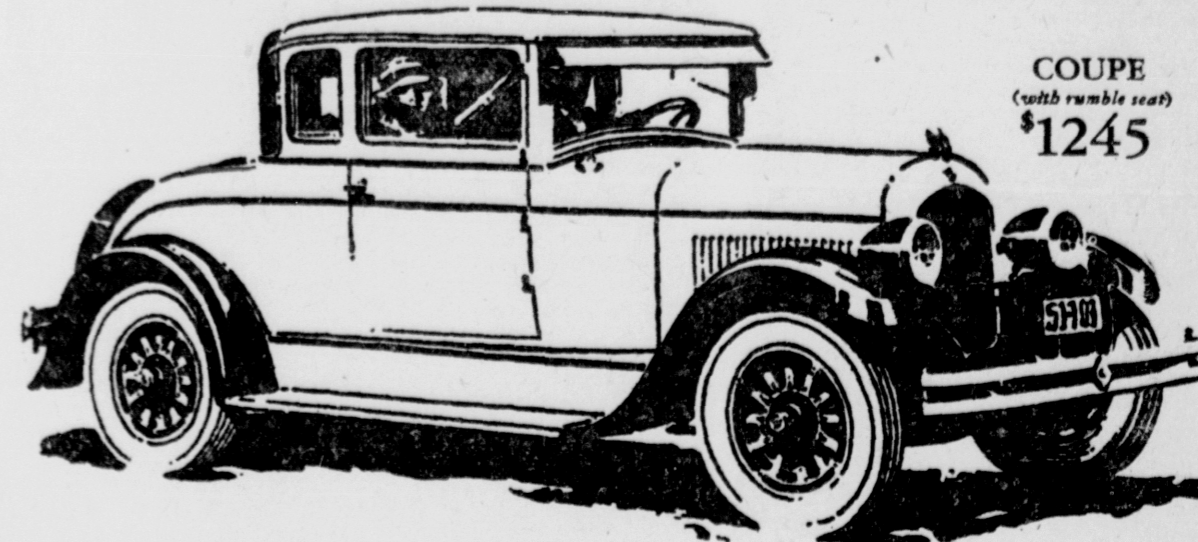

Mr. James Winn, of Indiana, was called here on account of the death of his brother, Mr. John Winn.

Mr. Sandy Watson, E. Main St., who has been ill, is much improved and able to be out again.

There will be a social at Middle Run Baptist Church Saturday evening.

To literally scores of thousands, Chrysler "60" is proving that its public preference is based upon the soundest of buying reasons—unmistakable money-value. There's more than a thrill in the "60's" pick-up and in its speed ability of sixty miles and more an hour with exceptional ease. There's speed without the least effort, combined with most unusual riding comfort and handling facility. Mechanically, the "60" has many of the very same features to be found in the Chrysler "70" or Imperial "80": Seven-bearing crankshaft, invar-strut pistons, impulse neutralizer, manifold heat control, air cleaner, oil filter, full pressure lubrication, hydraulic four-wheel brakes and shock absorbers. Come, see the Chrysler "60"—and note the essential fineness of its Standardized Quality manufacture. You'll recognize, especially after driving it, there isn't another six of its price that even begins to compare with it in quality and value.

SPARKLING COLORS FEATURE CHRYSLER SPRING OFFERINGS

The new motor car color harmonies which were the outstanding feature of the national automobile shows are making their sparkling and conspicuous appearance on the highways today. The wide range of colors in which the new cars are offered attains a high degree of artistry by the use of novel and strikingly harmonious blendings and combinations that run the gamut of the rainbow.

The shadows adopted for this spring's offerings trend strongly to the picturesque in names as well as in color tones. Chrysler engineers, who led the vogue for duotone color contrasts three years ago and who have evidently scored another success with the attractive and distinctive color distribution which made their cars the center of admiration at the national shows, call attention to the interesting significance and widely varied origins of many of the names the new colors bear.

Ankeney and Weaver are Chrysler agents here.

DANGEROUS TRIP IS STARTED IN BUICK BROUGHAM IS SAID

Over ancient trails fraught with danger, through hub-deep sand under a sun which shows no pity for man or car, a man, his wife and daughter are blazing trails which never before showed the tracks of an automobile tire. This man is Lieut. Col. E. Alexander Powell, noted American war correspondent, author and globe-trotter.

Col. Powell left America with his family on a trip which will take them all over the world. They spent the winter visiting the islands in the eastern Mediterranean, including Crete, Cyprus, Rhodes, Malta, and Corfu. What material Col. Powell gathers there will be included in a book entitled "Mediterranean Moorings." The trip and the writing of his book will take him through Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and others of those newer countries. Col. Powell's car, a 1927 Buick brougham, is specially equipped with a typewriter and table, as well as many other conveniences so necessary on a long, arduous tour.

CUT ON HAND

Steve Phillips, popular Xenia starting judge, occupant of a roadster driven by Curtis Free, also of this city, was slightly cut on the hand when the auto skidded, and left the Dayton and Xenia Pike between Kil Kare Park and Lucas Hill Friday afternoon.

The two were driving to Xenia No serious injuries resulted. The car was not damaged.

Life's Getting Faster, Folks

Another speed record was broken when Major H. O. D. Seagrave, British speed king, went 203.841 miles in his "Mystery S" auto (center), exceeding the previous record by more than twenty-five miles an hour. The auto record keeps gaining on the train record of 120 miles an hour set by a Florida East Coast flyer in 1901, but is still far behind the plane record of 248.975 miles an hour, set by Lieutenant Cyrus Bettis, U. S. A.

Cedarville College Notes

The debate Monday evening in the Alford Auditorium was very well attended. The Cedarville team composed of James McMillan, Robert Turnbull, and Paul Orr upheld the affirmative and the Wittenberg team argued for the negative. The question was "Resolved: That Direct Primaries Should Be Abolished." As this was not a contest to show which team was superior no judges were employed. After the debaters had finished their argument an open forum was held and everyone was given the permission to ask questions.

Cedarville College now has a paper it can call its own. The first issue was sold after the Wittenberg Girls' Glee Club entertainment Wednesday night. The new paper is known as "Cedar Needles." Mr. Day Kennedy, Coulterville, Ind., was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. for next year. He will complete the cabinet with his own selections. Previously all members of the cabinet had been elected but the new plan will be tried next year.

The Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting Wednesday morning. Miss Viola Curry favored with a violin solo. The main part of the meeting was the discussion of the fourth commandment.

The annual spring vacation started Thursday at noon. Work will be resumed next Wednesday morning at eight o'clock, eastern standard time.

EVANGELIST WILL CONDUCT SERVICES

The Friends Church, this city, is planning two weeks special services to start Sunday, April 3 and end Easter Sunday.

Evangelist Orley Smith of Carmel, Ind., will have charge of the services, the church having engaged him early last fall to come at this time.

The Rev. Mr. Smith is expected to arrive Saturday evening and will take charge of the morning and evening services Sunday. The church has been having special prayer services for these meetings, which have been well attended.

The Rev. Russell Burkett, pastor, will assist the evangelist. Grover C. Crawford will lead the singing.

DIES FROM FUMES

CLEVELAND, O., Apr. 2.—Julia Dozpoly, 18, is dead here today as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning. The girl was found dead in a bathroom at her home after her mother became alarmed and broke the lock on the door. Fumes from a small gas stove were held responsible for the girl's death.

BODY UNIDENTIFIED

CLEVELAND, O., April 2.—The body of the woman, who leaped fifty feet to her death in Lake Erie from the cliffs at Perkins Beach Thursday night is in the county morgue still unidentified. Police believe she came to Cleveland from some other part of Ohio or perhaps another state.

WHIPPET TO VISIT XENIA ON NON-STOP TRIP

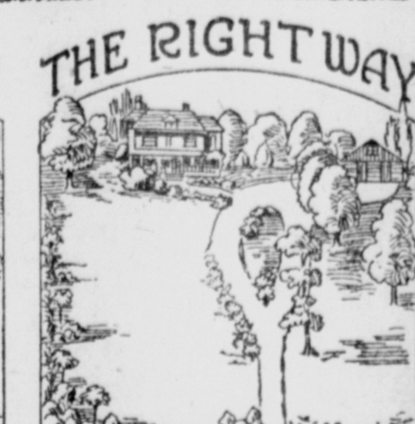

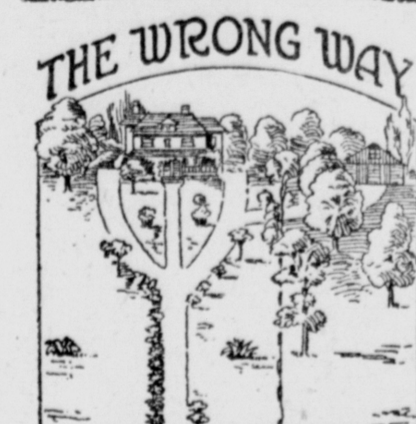

Sent away from Toledo at noon Saturday an Overland Whippet will be driven over the highways of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky for seven days and seven nights, without a motor stop until noon, April 9.

Cash prizes are being offered for the closest estimate to the total mileage and gasoline average made by the Whippet in this 7-day run. Register your guess with The Greene County Hardware Co. and watch the papers and our showroom windows for reports of the Whippet progress.

The car is scheduled to stop at our showroom several times during the run. Times of arrival: 12:00, noon, Sunday, April 3; 11:45 p. m., Monday, April 4; 1:00 p. m., Wednesday, April 6; 12:30 a. m., Friday, April 8.

GETTING BACK TO NATURE PLEASURABLE, PROFITABLE GARDENING AT HOME

By JOHN A. CRAWFORD
Specialist in Horticulture
THIRD ARTICLE

Pooh won the war with a plan. His goal was German territory.

A home gardener will win his campaign for beautifying his place with a plan. His goal is to reassemble what Nature left off, or enterprising civilization swept off his house. He aims to make the house, lawn, drive, trees, flowerbeds, chicken coop, trellis, back-fence and garage look as if they grew there and quite as much at home as the boulders and oaks on a rugged hillside or the brook bubbling its way through the fields.

Furthermore, if he succeeds, he will have added 10 to 15 per cent to the worth of his place. Ask any real estate man, if you doubt it.

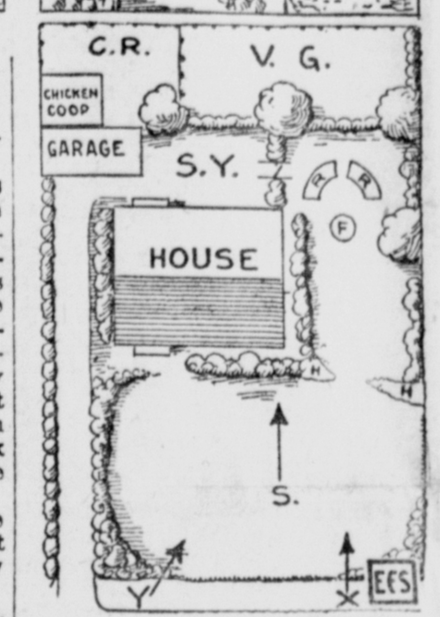

Note the accompanying drawings. One depicts a clumsy "Y" of a drive way that smites the beholder. Its isolated shrubs are as inviting as a cactus in mid-desert, and that line of shrubs next to the walk looks as if they should be peeled away from it. The trees look like umbrellas and are leggy, and would beckon a sparrow out of the wind or rain, let alone a human. If the passerby should recover from the shock of that driveway to look into this lot again, what else is there to impress him? Little, and he passes on.

Alongside it is the same lot relaid. The "Y" is tucked under the trees. The shrubs on the lawns have been lined along west boundary, the tall ones to the rear where they will appear to whisper to the trees beyond them, on the next lot, and the dwarfed ones in front listening to the grass grow in the morning. Their skyline is now near the street and higher as it approaches the trees.

The other sketch shows a house in the middle of an ordinary-sized house. Note these characteristics of good landscaping in it. First, the lower right hand side of the lawn has no wall of shrubs. It allows the family on the piazza a vista to the neighbor's front garden. The arrow X lets the passerby glimpse through the holly-hock row at H to the bird-bath F and the rose beds beyond it. At arrow Y the caller spies the same enticing entrance and he wants to see your garden beyond it, because the entrance is so inviting.

Second, the service yard, SY, chicken run CR, and vegetable garden VG are walled off by shrubs,

JUDGE RETURNS OWN VERDICT OVER JURY

ASHLAND, O., April 2.—A judgment of $416.50 in favor of Guy and Orpha Portner, against Lester and Bertha Kershner, growing out of a civil lawsuit, was on file in common pleas court here today, having been entered by Judge Charles Chapman, following the refusal of a jury to return an instructed verdict for that amount.

The jurors, seven men and five women, refused to sign the judgment, and one told court attaches he would pay a fine rather than sign it, it was said. The suit, growing out of a defaulted land contract, was among the first to be tried by Judge Chapman.

Members of the jury panel were dismissed, with instructions to report back next Monday. Judge Chapman did not indicate whether any further action would be taken.

REPORTED DYE WILL RESIGN PARTY JOB

COLUMBUS, O., Apr. 2.—Resignation of Thomas E. Dye, Urbana, as chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, will be handed to the Democratic state central committee Wednesday, it is reported.

No confirmation of the reports was available, state headquarters declining to comment in the absence of Mr. Dye, who is on a business trip in southern Ohio.

The meeting of the central committee will be "to consider a number of business matters," officials said.

Friends of the chairman here today indicated his reported resignation was to permit him to devote more time to business ventures now being organized.

Mr. Dye was elected executive committee chairman in 1924, succeeding W. W. Durbin, Kenton.

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

The WAY I FEEL ABOUT IT

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Life bears mostly unhappiness for one with a simple income and a complicated taste.
EPH SNOW
"The great danger to society is not bolshevism," said Eph Snow, "but little men with big power who call themselves 'good citizens.'"

CURVES
Curves for women are coming back this spring, but what we'd like to know is whether our pitchers' curves are coming back this spring.

AND MAKE THE SQUEAL
Police judges may not be butchers, but they often "stick" road hogs.

A BUTCHER KNIFE WILL DO
All brides do not use can-openers. Some of them use hatchets.

WHO REMEMBERS
When a prizefight was considered so disgraceful it had to be staged in an old barn out in the country late at night, where the sheriff couldn't find out about it?

IN OUR TOWN
The Weekly Clarion, which lost nearly all its subscribers when it refused to publish the details of Browning trial, is getting them back since it began printing a sprightly sex serial.

THE POINT OF VIEW
The worst waste of time is trying to drive home an argument.
When there's "nobody home" there

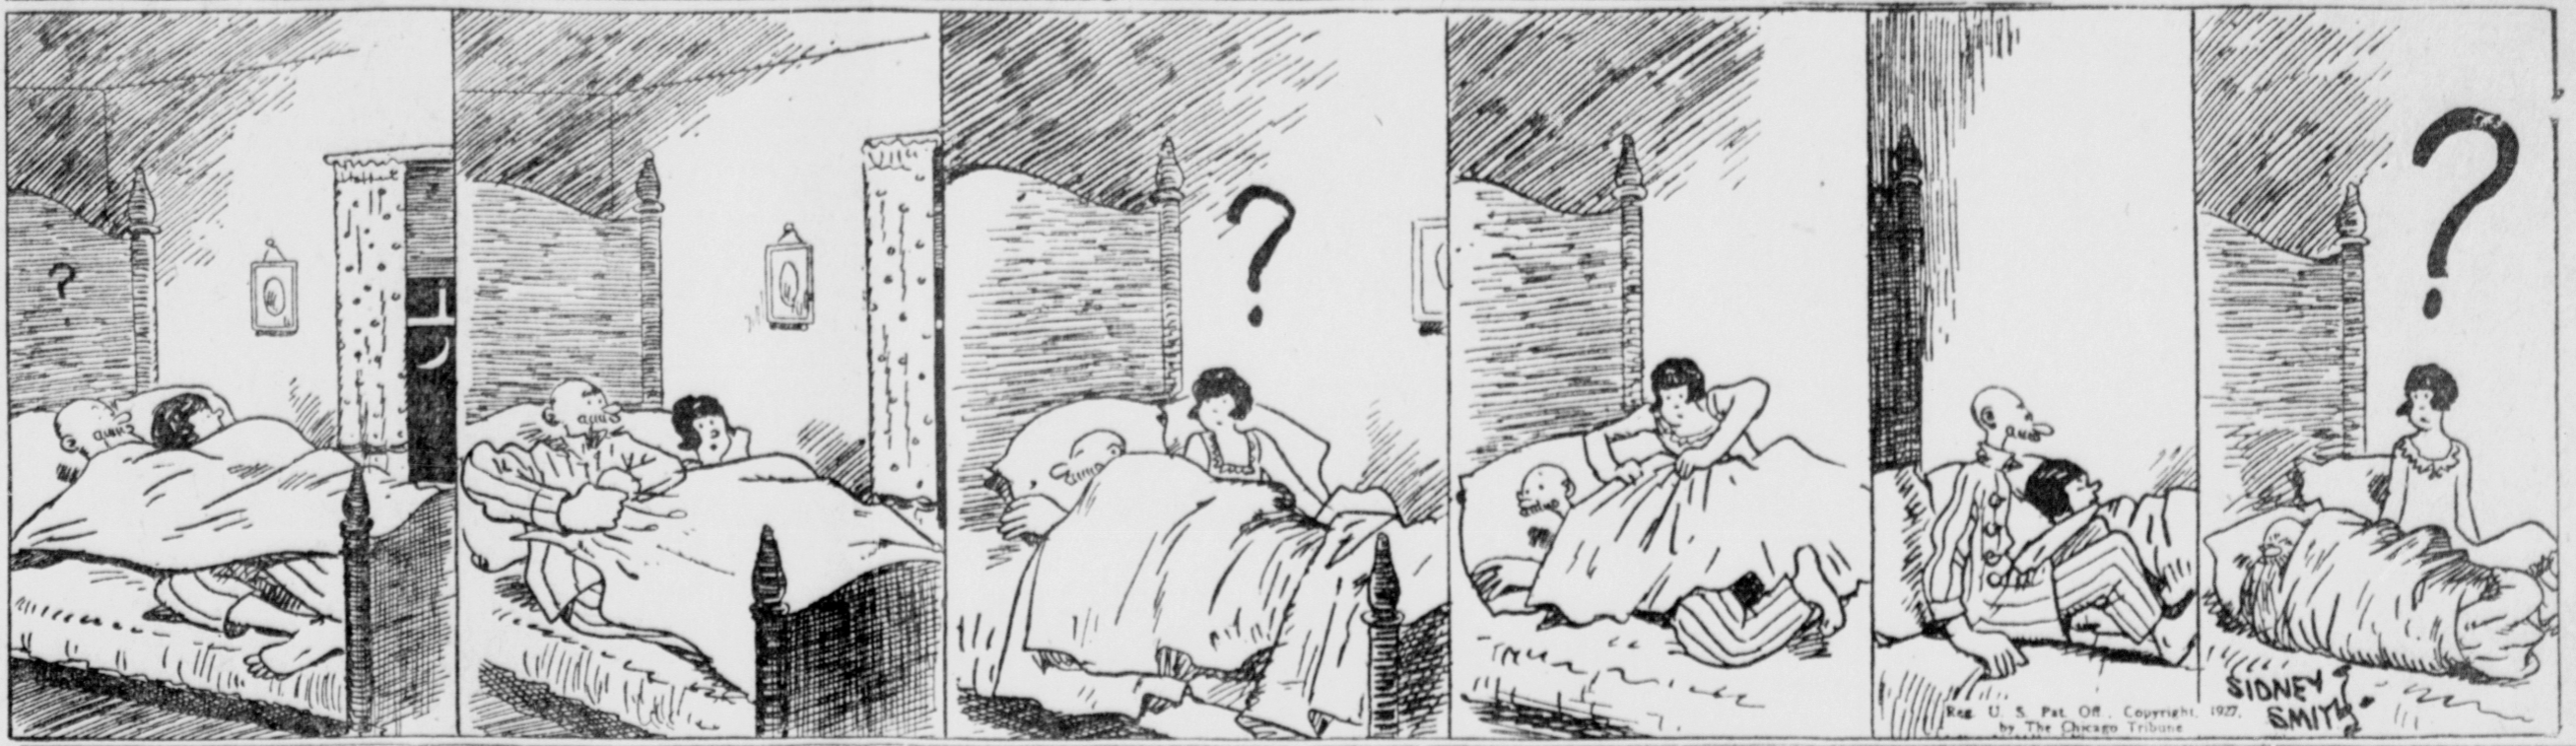

To drive it to.
HALF-MINUTE ESSAY
They're always kidding Adam about losing a rib.
It's time to end that rib "roast." Truth is, Adam didn't lose a rib—it was his backbone he lost when he couldn't resist Eve's apple. But at that a man who would trade a garden for an apple is no kind of ancestor to discuss with the Daughters of the American Revolution.
And he was nasty, too, and taunted her about the apple: "That was a good one you pulled the other day."
Still Adam has his points. He would have been the last man to bring about being the first man.
Modest, that way, even if he didn't wear any clothes.

SPRING FASHION NOTE
Lawn dresses soon will be here again; also lawn hose.

SHORT STORIES
The primary teacher sent Eva, the littlest girl, out to the school playground to find how many children had arrived for the morning session, and Eva duly reported: "Six kids out there. Five of 'em are boys and I don't know what the other one is."

"What makes young Sapley look so sour?"
"He has a right to be—he was fired from the glee club."

DR. PATTERSON IS NAMED MEMBER OF CHEMISTRY BOARD

Dr. Austin M. Patterson, N. King St., has received notice from the National Research Council of his re-appointment for a term of three years, as an American member of the Council of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry.

DR. A. M. PATTERSON

Dr. Patterson at once offered his resignation in favor of some one who would be able to attend the next meeting of the council which will be held in Warsaw, Poland, in September 1927. The research council, however, refused to accept his resignation.

There are five other American members of the council of the International Union, as follows: M. T. Bogert, of Columbia University; John Johnston, of Yale; C. L. Reese, of the Dupont de Nemours Company; E. W. Washburn, chief chemist of the U. S. Bureau of Standards; and C. L. Parsons, secretary of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Patterson who is internationally known as an authority on chemical nomenclature, attended the meeting of the council of the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry in Bucharest two years ago, and the 1926 meeting which was held in Washington. He is a member of the faculty of Antioch College.

LETTERS AWARDED TO SPRING VALLEY HIGH BASKET STARS

Twelve members of the boys' and girls' basketball teams of Spring Valley High School were awarded letters at an athletic banquet honoring the two court squads at the school Friday night.

The presentation was made by Principal A. W. Drewes. Covers were laid for thirty people at the banquet.

Members of the boys' squad receiving letters included Captain Donald Peterson, Carlos Wilson, Luther Lumpkin, Lawrence Vandeman, Homer Hurley and William Beam. Captain Peterson is the only senior.

Girls awarded letters were Captain Catherine Noggle, Hazel Griffy, Norma Gaddis, Dorothy Connard, Dorothea Villars and Kathryn Van Pelt. All are seniors with the exception of Miss Griffy.

Color scheme of red and black, the school colors, was carried out in the decorations. The tables were decorated with red candles placed in crystal sets, a profusion of red flowers and baskets filled with mints.

The favors consisted of miniature basketballs with red ribbons attached. Place cards were of red color design with small basketballs at the top and the hand-painted napkins bore the high school initials and a basketball design.

A three-course banquet was served the athletes by girl students of the Home Economics department of the school.

$30,000 Holdout

Thirty thousand dollars a year—or Eddie Roush won't play baseball with the New York Giants, he announced. He spurned an offer of $60,000 for three years, and with the season about to start, this balking embarrassed the club.

Introducing 1927 Big League Clubs

By DON Q. DUFFY

Special Baseball Writer, EFS
The process of rebuilding the Pittsburgh Pirates, a fallen champion, started with a general housecleaning that saw the manager who won the 1925 National League pennant and then the world's series, deposed one year later.

The Pirates of 1927 will present Owen "Donie" Bush for their manager. A two-listed flyweight as a player, Bush earned his managerial diploma in the minor league circuit after he was considered a complete bust in directing the Washington Senators.

Developing the Indianapolis Hoosiers into a pennant contender in the American Association, Bush attracted the major league magnates who were considering changes last fall. Going about his business secretly, Dreyfuss looked into Bush's record and decided the midget was the one to rebuild the Pirates.

At that the Pirates of 1927 only need oiling in a few spots. In spite of the charge of mutiny in camp, collapse of harmony and other essentials necessary for a winning ball club, the Pirates of 1926 were a dangerous challenger for the National League flag until the last three weeks of the season.

To prove the 1926 vehicle was not a complete bust Dreyfuss is bringing back eighteen members of last year's squad. And they form the nucleus for a pretty fair ball club. If they will get a little help from the new additions the Corsairs promise to say more than a few whispering words about who's who in the National League this coming season.

Admitting everything starts with the pitching staff the Pirates introduce seven performers who belong to the top flight. They are Alldridge, Bush, Kremer, Meadows, Morrison, Songer and Yde. Pretty fair pitching right there.

The expected new strength is to come from Mike Crenshaw, a broad-shouldered southpaw, who had several big league trials, drifted down to the Southern Association and was plucked by the Pirates in the draft; Carmen Hill, a lad who wears spectacles and who turned out some clever pitching with Indianapolis; Byron Speece, one of those untalented underhand pitchers, a la Carl May, from Indianapolis; Lee Mehaffey, from Columbia.

There are other pitching recruits, but not much is expected from George Peery, alter Tauscher, Guy Morrison and Elbert Hammock.

Three new catchers have joined the Pirates. They are Claude Linton, Ike Danning and Thomas Farr, but it is difficult to see how they are going to crowd around the plate with Earl Smith, Johnny Gooch and Roy Spencer on the staff.

The infield, at one spot, forms a problem for Donie Bush. George Grantham is a handy first baseman and he will be back on the job; Glen Wright is all that is desired for shortstop and Pie Traynor wears the crown among the third basemen. Which leaves second base open for competition.

Had Rhyne, a frisky juvenile from California, who was with the Pirates all of last season, has been converted from a shortstop to a second baseman. At least, Hal will get the opportunity to win his spurs around the middle cushion. Joe Cronin is another candidate.

GETS APPOINTMENT

GEORGE H. SMITH

George H. Smith, attorney, has been appointed commissioner of insolvents by Probate Judge S. C. Wright. The move is expected to result in an effort to free liquor prisoners on the indigent debtor law.

TWO YOUTHS BEGIN LANCASTER TERMS

Two youths given indeterminate sentences to the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, O., on juvenile delinquency charges by Juvenile Judge S. C. Wright, were taken to the reform school Saturday in the custody of Probation Officer J. E. Watts.

They were: Joseph Honaker, 15, colored, paroled prisoner from Canton, O., and Henry Hopkins, who was arrested with Floyd Johnson for theft of auto accessories from a private garage in this city. Johnson is held to the grand jury.

SENIORS INSPECT STATE BUILDINGS

A group of Central High School seniors, in charge of Sheriff Ohmer Tate and Secretary Oliver Belden, of the auto club, motored to Columbus Friday and visited various state-owned institutions.

Principal Spencer Shank and several teachers also made the trip, which has become an annual custom since its inauguration a number of years ago.

Richard Bartell, picked up as a free agent, is the only new infielder.

With Hazen Cuyler set for center field and Paul Waner proving himself a phenom last summer out in right field, the only opening in the outfield will be left.

This hazard was seen by Barney Dreyfuss for he instructed his scouts to grab all the promising youngsters. They came in with Herman Layne, from Toronto; Fred Brickell, from Wichita; Adam Comorosky, from Williamsport; Lloyd Waner, from Columbia, and Carl Frey, from Johnston.

These youngsters will find Clyde Barnhart on the job again, but as Barnhart skidded down the ladder considerably last season there is an opening for one of the recruits to win a permanent place.

Bush is the type who will not tolerate any secret whisperings around the bench; he will not have an assistant to receive tales from the disgruntled athletes and all in all the Pirates form a legitimate contender for the National League pennant this season.
